Non-Swimmer Lost Despite Wife's Effort

Boat's Owner Says Bilges Ventilated Before Explosion

An Inverness man apparently drowned last night when a friend's cabin cruiser exploded in Tomales Bay.

The Coast Guard said the missing man, Robert J. Gardner, 35, of Mesa Avenue, could not swim.

His 29-year-old wife, Judy, who is seven months pregnant, tried to keep him above water, but he disappeared beneath the surface.

SEARCH RESUMES

The owner of the boat, James N. Raptis, 46, of Aberdeen Way, Inverness, and his wife, Margaret, 36, were treated at the hospital for exposure.

Coast Guard and sheriff's deputies resumed their search for Gardner today at 7:30 a.m.

Raptis told the Coast Guard that his engine did not have full power when he got out into the bay, and was turning back to port at about 7:45 p.m. when the engine exploded. He said he had ventilated the bilges of the 22-foot boat for five minutes before leaving the dock.

The fire blocked access to the lifejackets in the cabin, Raptis told the Coast Guard, and all four persons jumped overboard.

He helped Mrs. Gardner keep her husband afloat, but left them to help his wife remove a coat which was weighing her down. When Raptis swam back, Gardner was missing.

CRIES HEARD

The three survivors then swam about 50 yards to a moored sailboat.

Residents of the area heard their cries for help, and telephoned the Golden Hinde Boatel. An employee there, John Shuey, 19, of Kentfield, took a boat out and picked up the survivors.

The boat drifted north across the lagoon to the oyster bed fence, and burned to the water line.

Gardner and Raptis were neighbors, and both worked as salesmen for the same circus company.

Senate Approves Redwoods Split

64,000 Acres In 2 Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed today a bill to authorize a 64,000 acre two-unit Redwood National Park in California.

The roll call vote of 77 to 6 sent the measure to the House where consideration is scheduled for next year.

Just before the passage vote the Senate cleared away the last hurdle by accepting provision for a land exchange with lumber companies.

AMENDMENT REJECTED

By a 51-30 roll call vote, the Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., to eliminate authorization to trade nearby national redwood lands for private timber lands to be include in the park.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, led the fight for the amendment in Anderson's absence.

He said the proposed trade of the 14,500-acre northern redwood purchase unit administered by the Forest Service for commercial sustained yield timber production violated long standing national policy and was opposed solidly by the administration.

'HONORABLE EXCEPTION'

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said the exchange is necessary to help keep the lumber companies in business and to protect the tax base and economy of the areas. He called it "an honorable exception to a general policy."

Jackson produced a letter from Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, dated Oct. 31, confirming long-standing government policy against using national forest land as trading stock, but saying that if Congress considered this trade "absolutely essential" to the establishment of a Redwood National Park it would present a new policy question on which the administration has yet to take a position.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said it would help keep

KILLER GIVEN AN EXECUTION STAY AGAIN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today granted condemned killer, who swore under oath his codefendant was innocent, another stay of execution through Nov. 14. (See earlier story, photo, page 12.)

The stay was granted to Robert Lee Massie who testified yesterday under oath at the trial of John Robert Vetter, 37, that Vetter was innocent of murder in a 1965 crime spree in San Gabriel Valley and that a man named "Smitty" was his accomplice.

A Reagan aide said the governor would probably grant continuing stays of execution until the trial is over.

Massie, 28, had previously refused to testify.

Marin's Dirty Air Look Near Eye Smarting

Despite the dirty look of the air over Marin today, the smog level is below the eye-irritating level, the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District reported.

Marin, however, yesterday had the highest count of nitrogen oxides in the Bay Area at .45 per million parts of air. This morning, the nitrogen oxide reading in San Rafael was up to .66.

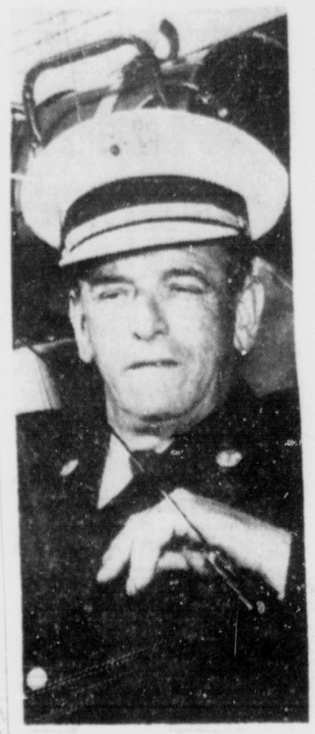
Nitrogen oxides are not included in smog readings, but are a primary ingredient "cooked" by the sun to create smog.

The highest Bay Area smog reading yesterday was .18 in Redwood City. Marin's reading could reach the eye-irritating level of .15 late today, twice yesterday's level, a district spokesman said.

The mild smog attack started yesterday when a stagnant hight-pressure air area over the mountains prevented a 3,000-foot-high mass of hot air from moving out of the Bay Area. Cooler air is expected after tomorrow, the district reported.

The lack of wind yesterday caused smoke from a controlled fire behind St. Vincent's School for Boys to drift over Loma Verde, causing residents to telephone Novato Fire Department. Smoke still lingered in the unmoving air this morning.

The highest temperature recorded yesterday in Marin was 84 in San Rafael. Other readings were: Sausalito, 82; Woodacre, 82; Novato, 78; and Belvedere, 77.



NELLO MARCUCCI

Longtime Hub Fire Chief Marcucci Dies

Nello E. Marcucci, retired San Anselmo fire chief, died last night in his home at 160 San Francisco Boulevard after a short illness. He was 69.

Marcucci was chief 33 years, retiring in 1963. He also served as civil defense fire coordinator for Marin and was San Anselmo's street supervisor and building inspector.

Born in Italy, Marcucci came to San Francisco with his family when he was two. His father was a rancher, but Nello wanted to become a fireman.

Moving to San Anselmo in 1916, he joined the fire department a year later as a volunteer. He became assistant chief under Chief Charles Cartwright in 1923, and moved into the chief's post seven years later, when Cartwright became semi-retired.

At that time, Marcucci was the only regular member of an otherwise volunteer department. He recently recalled working six

Tear Gas Nips Anti-Humphrey Demonstration

KUALA LUMPUR (UPI)—Police used tear gas today to break up anti-American demonstrations as Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in this Malaysian capital for a three-day visit. But threatened rioting failed to materialize.

Police use clubs and tear gas on demonstrators in the city of Georgetown six hours before he arrived. Minor demonstrations broke out in Kuala Lumpur before and after his arrival but they were across town from the official motorcade.

Police said one group of 300 youths threatened to get out of hand and they dispersed the group before it could cause trouble. Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman had threatened "strong action" against any protests against the Humphrey visit.

Because of threats of large scale demonstrations security precautions for Humphrey were even greater than those for President Johnson when he visited Malaysia for 22 hours a year and a day ago.

Rahman sprained his ankle playing golf yesterday and was unable to meet Humphrey at the airport, but the two experienced politicians were to meet tonight at the Tengku's hilltop residence.

After the bird's eye view of the Vietnam war, Humphrey

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., suffering from a virus infection, was secretly transferred early today from a small branch jail to the "safer" Birmingham jail.

Dr. King sent word from his cell in the Bessemer jail yesterday that he was "mostly in bed with a worsening virus infection" and was being treated by a doctor. He said he was "generally comfortable."

SMALL STORY, HUGE COST

Victim Of Uninsured Car Pleads For Improved Laws

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

It began as an entry on a police blotter. Frank Raimondi, 28, of Sausalito was hit by a car while walking in the 2200 block of Bridgeway. It rated three paragraphs in the Independent-Journal.

Like thousands of items before and since, it was scanned by the readers and forgotten.

Raimondi's accident became a statistic — one of four injury accidents in the city limits of Sausalito in the month of August, 1967.

While few remember what happened to Raimondi, in the early hours of Aug. 26, he himself has every reason not to forget.

In fact, the more he thinks about it as he lies in his Marin General Hospital bed nine weeks and four days later, the more he sees himself the victim of what he calls "antiquated and unrealistic motor vehicle financial responsibility laws."

For he says he was hit by a motorist who was not covered by personal liability insurance. As a result, the financial burden for Raimondi increases steadily as every valuable medical minute ticks by.

"I am not an isolated case," he said, "this is something that could happen to anybody. I feel, however, that something should be done soon to offer some protection against uninsured drivers.

"I'd like to know if anyone cares enough to change these outmoded and irresponsible financial responsibility laws and require compulsory insurance for all drivers?"

He said that as a result of the accident he suffered fractures of both legs, concussion, shock, multiple head lacerations requiring 150 stitches, a broken femur, a collapsed lung and loss of blood.

Hospital treatment he expects will cost $6,000 plus doctors' fees of $2,500. Self-employed at the

Viet Cong Let Saigon Parade Go Unscathed

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong mortarmen carried the attack on the Vietnamese district headquarters at Loc Ninh into the fourth day today but left the National Day parade in Saigon alone.

The 200-round barrage fired at one of the American battalions defending Loc Ninh wounded only one man. A total of 365 Communists have been reported killed in attempts this week to overrun the town 72 miles north of Saigon, apparently for a propaganda victory to take some bloom off the inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Allied casualties at Loc Ninh so far were reported to be seven Americans and 18 South Vietnamese killed, and 21 Americans and 64 South Vietnamese wounded. B52 bombers dropped 300,000 pounds of explosives today on suspected Communist camps and supply areas.

But in Saigon, Thieu ignored the danger of Viet Cong terrorism and rode in an open convertible at the head of the National Day parade.

It was during the same procession last year that the Viet Cong launched a bold recoilless rifle attack on the parade stands, killing 13 and wounding 37.

The guerrillas demonstrated their capacity to do it again last night when they fired mortar shells at Independence Palace.

Ground fighting was generally light across the country, but troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division reported killing 2 Viet Cong in a fierce eight-hour fight Tuesday only 19 miles north of Saigon. Six Americans were reported killed and 11 wounded.

U.S. Marine jets also attacked North Vietnamese artillery positions in and above the DMZ and ranged up to Hanoi to plaster the Canal des Rapides highway bridge five miles northeast of the Communist capital's center. It was the eighth straight day of U.S. air raids on Hanoi.

Cooler For Firefighters

ORANGE (AP) — An encouraging weather forecast heartened crews today trying to surround brush and timber fires that have burned 140,000 acres in Southern California.

Four deaths are attributed to the fires. Structural damage has exceeded $4 million.

Rising humidty and an influx of cool, marine air were expected to aid hundreds of weary fire fighters.

Fires erupting Sunday, were whipped by dry winds gusting up to 100 miles an hour as humidity dropped in some areas to one per cent. But the wind died down to breezes yesterday.

Most of the blazes were reported near containment, but but more than 1,100 men were battling a 10,000-acre fire out of control on the steep, timbered slopes of North Peak in San Diego County.

A state forestry official said the fire was not threatening inhabited areas but that it was "a long way from containment."

Reagan Offers Slaying Reward

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan, invoking a rarely used gubernatorial power, today offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the conviction of the killer of a Southern California policeman.

Press secretary Paul Beck announced the reward for the slayer of Robert H. Keller, a Huntington Park police officer slain Oct. 5.

The money woul dcome from state funds.

Keller, 25, was fatally wounded in a Huntington Park women's apparel shop where he was answering a call from a silent burglar alarm.

Mother Lode Fire

AUBURN (UPI) —Fire early today destroyed the Placer County Laundry in downtown Auburn, causing damage estimated at up to $75,000 before being rontrolled.

Social Security Boost Favored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee today approved a bill to increase Social Security benefits an average 15 per cent for 23 million Americans.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said the legislation would increase the monthy minimum payment to $70. This was just what President Johnson had requested.

By an 10 to 6 vote, the committee also voted a 4.8 per cent payroll tax rate effective Jan. 1.

Union Split Seen In Spending Spree

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther appears to be liquidating major financial interests in the AFL-CIO in preparation for pulling his 1.5 million-member United Auto Workers out of the labor federation, informed sources say.

The AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department, Reuther's last remaining power base within the federation, is rapidly and deliberately spending itself out of money, it was reported.

IMPACT DENIED

Jack Conway, executive director of the Industrial Union Department, denied any such significance could be attached to the money problem, but confirmed that more than $1 million has been spent out of cash reserves in the past 10 months. This was more than half the department's total cash.

"It's nothing serious," said Conway, adding that much of the money had been spent supporting organizing drives among teachers, farm workers and Southern textile workers and in helping other unions.

But another labor source said: "It could mean that if Reuther pulls out of the AFL-CIO, he would leave the Industrial Union Department empty-handed."

REUTHER FEUD

Reuther has been attacking the leadership of AFL-CIO President George Meany for more than a year and making threatening gestures to secede from the big labor federation the two men founded 12 years ago.

The Auto Workers union has long been the major financial backer of the 60-union Industrial Union Department that embraces some 6 million of the AFL-CIO's total 14 million members.

Reuther quit as a vice president of the AFL-CIO nine months ago and resigned all other posts except the presidency of the Industrial Union Department.

"It's not as if he were spending other people's money," said one source, adding that, in effect, the Industrial Union Department was getting rid of money largely contributed by the Auto Workers.

"And it's not being wasted," this source said, pointing out the money was being spent helping other unions and on community action programs aimed at solving big-city slum problems. These are two of the areas on which Reuther has severely criticized Meany for not being "dynamic" enough.

Conway, while denying the financial straits had anything to do with the Reuther-Meany dispute, said the Industrial Union Department's cash reserves had dwindled from "slightly over $2 million" to "somewhere around $1 million" in the past year.

CASH STATUS

Other sources said the department's net worth had plummeted from $2,313,761.58 on Dec. 30, 1966, to "in the neighborhood of $800,000" now, a drop of more than $1.5 million in 10 months.

The situation has nothing to do with the AFL-CIO's own separate cash position, which stood at about $5.7 million in the last annual report July 30. This was an increase of more than $500,000 during a year when the Industrial Union Department's reserves had already dropped by more than $600,000.

Ford Recalls 745,000 66-67 Autos

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. says it is recalling 745,000 cars because of possible defects in their steering systems.

Among the vehicles being recalled, Ford said, are 447,000 Mustang 1967 models. The firm said 267,000 of the Mustangs have the type steering systems in which defects have been discovered, but all 447,000 must be recalled to locate which ones have the suspect system.

The other cars being recalled are 298,000 Falcon, Fairlane and Thunderbird cars built in 1966 and 1967.

The Falcons, Fairlanes and Thunderbirds are being recalled because of "a small number of reported loose or disengaged steering wheels."

The Mustange defect involves "the possibility that the reinforcing rods in the plastic steering wheel spokes could separate" causing an uneven load which could lead to steering malfunction, Ford said.

Bride Kept Bullet From Being Fatal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A 19-year-old bride held captive for 44 hours by an ex-boyfriend says they both slept briefly on the bedroom floor, but there was no chance for her to escape.

Still weak and dazed from a bullet wound in the chest, Lida Caldwell talked with two University Heights policemen yesterday at Doctors Hospital, where she was reported in satisfactory condition.

She was shot shortly after noon Monday by Robert Batch, 23, ending an ordeal that began when she and her husband returned Saturday afternoon from their wedding in Detroit. Batch killed himself with a bullet in the heart.

Donald J. Stehlik, Unversity Heights police chief, said Mrs. Caldwell told him that she pushed down on the gun just as Batch fired the bullet that grazed her heart.

"That undoubtedly saved her life," the chief said. "Batch had the gun pointed at her chest."

Mrs. Caldwell also talked by telephone Tuesday with her husband Charles, 18, who is recovering from a gunshot wound of the cheek in St. Vincent Charity Hospital.

Auto Strike's Costs To Ford: $74 Million

DETROIT (AP) — While the United Auto Workers union warned General Motors it would authorize strikes to prevent stockpiling of new cars through overtime work, strikebound Ford Motor Co. announced losses of $73,900,000 in the third quarter of 1967.

The Ford losses, amounting to 68 cents a share, were larger than the firm's profits of $65,800,000 or 60 cents a share in the third quarter of 1966.

Board chairman Henry Ford II and president Arjay Miller, in a joint statement, blamed the losses on the strike, which began Sept. 7 when the old contract expired before the company and union agreed on a new three-year contract.

A new contract since has been negotiated but the strike technically is still on because several at-the-plant local contracts remain in dispute. Settlement at a key parts plant in Canton, Ohio, yesterday reduced to 17 the number of local disputes still unsettled. These include key stamping plants at Monroe and Woodhaven, both near Detroit.

Meanwhile, UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock said he had advised G.M. of the union's plans to permit strikes at some plants if the nation's No. 1 automaker prepares for a possible companywide walkout by scheduling too much overtime.

Woodcock said the UAW position was made known at a meeting with G.M. bargainers. The meeting, first session among top bargainers since Sept. 19, was called at the request of the union.

Marin Building Slump Cuts Into Expected Water District Income

The building slump in Marin County cut into projected income of the Marin Municipal Water District. Income from the sale of water for the fiscal year ending June 30 was $3,544,283, compared with a projection of $3,660,000.

General Manager William R. Seeger told a meeting of the district's directors yesterday that the income from subdivision work was $586,782. The projection was for $700,000.

The district's net income for the year, less provisions for bond redemption, was $1,064,084, which was $193,066 less than the first-of-the-year projection, $1,257,150.

The auditor's report showed the water district to have total assets of $40,935,665.

An agreement for extension of an eight inch fireline to Bulkley Avenue and Princess streets, in Sausalito, was approved by the directors. Cost of the fireline extension will be $14,503, half of it to be shared by the City of Sausalito.

The directors awarded contracts for a number of improvements. The major award was a $66,181 contract to the Bragato Paving Co., of Santa Rosa, for 23 jobs in the water district's rehabilitation program.

The work includes installation of new cement pipe, new laterals, paving and surfacing work, transfer of fire hydrant lateral connections and other items. The other bidders were V. Maggiora and Son, Corte Madera, $81,799, and Soiland Co., Novato, $74,158.

A contract for installation of foundation pads for three water tanks went to W. K. McLellon Co., which made the low bid of $2,920.

Westco Pump Sales, San Francisco, with a low bid of $633, was awarded the contract for a new pump at Beacon Hill in Sausalito. There is a single pump at the location and the extra one will provide the area with additional fire protection.

The directors received four bids, ranging from $5,642 to $6,111, on 600 feet of steel pipe which will be laid through the Peacock Gap area, and two bids, of $7,766 and $8,493, on new audio tone signaling equipment, devices which transmit the water level in tanks. The directors decided to study the bids before awarding the contracts.

$2 Million Suit Against Actor

INGLEWOOD (AP) — British comedian Peter Sellers has been sued for $2,035,000 by a former airline employee who says Sellers "threatened to use" karate on him during a quarrel that cost the man his job.

Edward Kane, 40, a public relations man, charged in his Inglewood Superior Court suit yesterday that Sellers intentionally caused him emotional distress July 26 at Los Angeles International Airport.

The suit asserted Sellers wrote a letter to Kane's employer, Air France, and that Kane was asked to resign effective Tuesday.

Storm Sewer Not Cause Of Flooding

Water which has been coming up through the pavement in front of Maggis' Florists, 2 Bridge Avenue, San Anselmo, is not coming from city storm sewers, San Anselmo city council decided last night.

City engineer Charles R. Leitzell said that the water was probably either from an undetected leak in water or sewage lines.

Marin Municipal Water District officials stated today that theyhad repaired a leak in a line about 1500 feet away from the florists' shop yesterday and that this could have been the source of the water which has flooded a greenhouse in the rear of the shop.

In additional action last night, to Mozart Kaufman to construct Mozart Kaufman to construct an entrance on the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard side of Kaufman's Deaprtment Store.

The council also condemned property at 90 Woodside Drive so that repairs may be made to the street which was undermined by last winter's rains. A house on the property which had slid badly has already been burned, council members said.

Psychiatrist Asks Job Reinstatement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dr. Joel Fort, social psychiatrist, has filed a Superior Court suit against the City of San Francisco for $1.5 million and reinstatement in his job as director of the city's Center for Special Problems.

Dr. Fort said Tuesday his dismissal six months ago was motivated by "personal envy and resentment" on the part of his superiors.

Dr. Fort said that, under his guidance, the center — dealing with drug abuse, sexual problems, crime and suicide—introduced productive methods.

Model Home Looted Of Fancy Fixtures

Some potential home buyers apparently not only liked the model house at 461 Cedar Mill Drive, San Rafael, they took a fancy to the furnishings.

Police reported today the theft of lights, a jewelry box, bed spread and other household items valued at $226. There was no sign of forced entry and a number of people have keys to the home, said complainant Mildred M. Wheeler.

ABAG Denies Oversight On Commission Nominee

The Association of Bay Area Governments has confirmed that its ignoring the Marin County Board of Supervisors' nominee to ABAG's advisory commission on regional airport system needs was an accident.

This was revealed today in a letter to county clerk George H. Gnoss from Robert G. Miller of system needs was not an accident.

ABAG had requested the supervisors to recommend a Marin nominee, and the supervisors picked Benjamin R. Ostlind of San Rafael for the post on Oct. 10. A week later, Ostlind appeared before the supervisors to report that a Donald E. Wudtke of Ross, a San Francisco architect, had been picked by ABAG for the post to which he (Ostlind) had been nominated by Marin supervisors.

Supervisors John F. McInnis, one of the founders of ABAG, said he would investigate the mixup, believed accidental.

Today's letter from Miller confirmed Ostlind's report that he had been bypassed.

"It was a difficult task indeed to select only 11 who would be broadly representative of Bay Area geography, knowledge and interest from the large number of recommendations," wrote Miller. "I am sorry that it was not possible to include Mr. Ostlind in the original appointments."

Ostlind was not aware of Miller's letter when approached by the Independent-Journal this morning. "This is a ridiculous state of affairs," said Ostlind. "I think it is terrible that Marin is not represented. How can they expect support for their supergovernment if they are going to act like this."

Ostlind said that Miller had told him flatly there was no other nominee recommended from Marin by any Marin organization.

Ostlind was chosen by the Marin supervisors by 4-0 vote, Supervisor William A. Gnoss abstaining. He was the first chairman of the Marin Aviation Commission and is an active member of the commission at present.

Lesser Charge Refused; Trial Set In Killing

I-J Special Report

SUSANVILLE — Mrs. Jenney McDowell of San Rafael, accused of murdering her husband, today was denied a request during a court hearing to have the charge reduced to manslaughter or assault with a deadly weapon.

Mrs. McDowell is charged with killing Robert McDowell, 35, while the couple was on a hunting trip 65 miles north of here on Oct. 14.

Judge Aubrey C. Bieber of the Westwood-Honey Lake Judicial Court denied the request for a lesser charge and Mrs. McDowell was bound over to Lassen County Superior Court for hearing at a date still to be set.

Mrs. McDowell, of 410 Prospect Drive, allegedly shot her husband during an argument in their tent while they were deer hunting.

Marcucci significantly improved San Anselmo's fire safety status in his first decade as chief. An eighth class community in 1930, according to fire underwriters, the city had earned a third class rating by about 1940 — the first community in northern California to be given this classification.

Also in his early days as chief, Marcussi built a fire alarm system with his volunteers and improved the city's hydrants. The chief had had early training as an electrician.

In his last years as chief, Marcucci fought—and won — a struggle for construction of a second firehouse at the western end of the city. The second firehouse is now located at Butterfield Road and Arroyo Avenue.

When Marcucci joined the department, it was equipped with only a wagon-pumper drawn by two horses. Today, the 18-man department, under Chief Frank Sousa, his six units.

Among the city's firemen is Marcucci's son, Marty. The eldest son, Robert, also a fireman, is a battalion chief in San Rafael.

Marcucci, an easy-mannered, craggy-faced man, left the department in June 1963. Then, when he announced he would turn over his 14-karat gold badge to Sousa, Marcucci joked: "I bought it myself. The city only gave me a tin one."

Marcucci was a life member of the California State Firemen's Association, International Association of Fire Chiefs and the San Anselmo Firemen's Association, and belonged to the California Fire Chief's Association, Redwood Empire Firemen's Association, San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108 and San Rafael Lodge 57, IDES.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Y. Marcucci and his two sons.

Requiem Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. Friday at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo. Elks' services will be at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

tentatively identified as Frank L. Smith, 73, of Orange, in a car destroyed by a 165-acre brush fire near Newhall in northern Los Angeles County.

Earlier, fire fighters found the body of an 81-year-old woman in a burned house. Another woman was run over by a driverless car during evacuation and a fire fighter died while battling flames.

Arson is suspected by officials in several areas, but the cause of the 2,500-acre fire near Malibu was ruled accidental

Yesterday. Los Angeles County Fire Capt. Lee Ferman said a high tension line being strung by a private contractor snapped, the metal strands hitting a rock and spraying sparks.

Officials gave this rundown of fires:

Orange County: 47,440-acre fire, 35 miles southeast of Los Angeles, entirely contained along a 50-mile perimeter. Number of houses lost, unchanged since Monday—52.

San Diego County: 10,000-acre fire on North Peak, near Julien, out of control. 33,000-acre Ramona-Poway blaze expected to be contained this morning after burning some 20 houses.

Riverside County: More than 30,000 acres, south of Banning, 40 per cent contained with control expected by 6 p.m. Sixteen structures destroyed.

Los Angeles County: 2,500-acre Malibu are afire reported contained after destroying three homes in $50,000 to $70,000 range.

flew to Kuala Lumpur to continue his Asian tour.

Humphrey had reached within five miles of Communist North Vietnam. In a four-engine transport he watched U. S. artillery blaze at the 30,000 North Vietnamese troops reported by military intelligence to be pushing against Leatherneck forts on the frontier.

"We were able to see the artillery action going on. It was our side, and I think we are winning this struggle," he said.

A cluster of jet fighters and machine gun spouting helicopters mothered the vice president's transport on its 45-minute swoop over the shell-pocked landscape where the Communists are making their longest challenge to American might of the war.

Humphrey, wearing a Marine fatigue cap to ward off the sun's glare, looked down at Dong Ha, the Marine 3rd Division forward headquarters. Two days ago North Vietnamese artillery ravaged the area.

His plane skirted Gio Linh, where U. S. guns returned Communist fire, and Con Thien, the embattled forward outpost that withstood a two-month North Vietnamese artillery and infantry siege.

It was not a friendly sky. Communist ground fire has downed U. S. planes in the area.

But Humphrey showed no more concern than last night when three Viet Cong mortar shells hit the grounds of the Saigon palace where he was being entertained by President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The Nation's Economy Is Still Booming

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. economic expansion moved today into its 81st month—longest in history if it lasts through November—and the government's top economist says chances of keeping it alive indefinitely are "greatly improved."

But his optimism, added Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, hinges in large part on the future of President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

"We have learned well enough how to stimulate the economy when it is threatened by slack," Ackley said in a statement yesterday. "We also must show that we have the self-discipline to apply necessary restraint when the economy is threatened by overheating."

The current boom began in February 1961, the month after the late President John F. Kennedy was inaugurated. But it hasn't coasted along without an occasional push. Three tax cuts coaxed it forward at critical periods and now the administration wants a tax increase, saying it's needed to stem inflation.

But the tax hike proposal apparently has little chance of winning approval in this session of Congress. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee has thus far refused even to take up the measure unless Johnson offers long-range spending cuts.

The current boom follows three recessions which followed the Korean War.

Its impact can be measured best by a 57 per cent increase since early 1961 in the gross national product—the value of all goods and services produced in the economy.

SENATE

the lumber companies in business, benefit the local economy and reduce the $100-million cash outlay required for purchase of park land.

Sens. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., objected to the exchange provision as precedent setting.

"I don't want to open the floodgates,' 'Aiken told the Senate. "I don't see why we can't pay cash — over a period of time."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., viewed the national forest land as "America's investment in the future," as cities expand and rural areas become congested. "I see no compelling reason at this point in our history to start trading them off."

The compromise park bill sponsored by Jackson and Kuchel and approved by the Senate Interior Committee has united conservation factions feuding over the best location of the park.

The proposed two units in Humboldt and Del Norte counties are a cross between the Interior Department plan for a 42,000-acre park largely in Del Norte County and the Sierra Club's 90,000-acre recommendation in Humboldt County.

Burglary Safeguards Will Be Discussed

Sgt. Thomas Lightfoot of the Marin County sheriff's office will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow before the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club at Tamalpais Valley School. Lightfoot will speak on burglary safeguards.

The club will also hear a report from Joe Davis Allen of the building committee on soils tests and fill requirements for the club's building site at Marin Avenue and Tennessee Valley Road.

Hiking, Bike Trails Plan Due In Tiburon

A master plan for hiking and bicycle trails for the Tiburon Peninsula will be outlined by Walter Hochler of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department at the meeting of the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Tiburon City Hall.

Of the total cost of $1,500, Tiburon's share would be $500 for the proposed Tiburon trails, which would tie into the county trail system.

HOSPITAL

time of the accident, Raimondi is worried about where the money is to come from.

He had been in California only one month from his native New York State when he was involved in the accident. In New York, personal liability insurance is compulsory.

He has a wholesale women's hair goods business in Brooklyn and was, he says, in Marin to open a branch here. Ironically if he had been driving his car he would have been covered by an uninsured driver clause.

"Unfortunately, I had sold the car before coming here and whoever thinks of getting himself covered against being hit while out walking?" he said.

While he is laid up, his New York business is at a standstill and he said he gets little income from that source.

There is always recourse through a civil action, but Raimondi points out that in many cases a favorable decision is one thing, collection from a plaintiff with few assets is something else.

Raimondi is not alone in his concern for legislation protecting the victims of uninsured motorists. It is the subject of constant discussion at state level, according to Thomas Foudy, assistant manager of the Department of Motor Vehicles in Corte Madera.

"There have been a number of lengthy and involved hearings," he said, "but no one appears to have come up with a solution however."

Main argument of insurance companies against compulsory personal liability coverage appears to hinge on the increased premiums for covering habitually bad drivers.

"There is also the added complication provided by out-of-state drivers," said Foudy. "New York has its problems there.

"One way it could work is if it was run on a federal level but some people are reluctant to give up yet another state right."

A fact which is ammunition to insurance companies is the vast majority of civil cases arising from injury accidents result in satisfaction for the victims.

Out of 233 cases for which depositions were filed last year in Marin, 191 were settled out of court. These cases concerned all forms of damage caused by autos, property as well as personal injury.

Since last July, statistics have been kept at Marin County Courthouse on the number of suits arising from auto accidents. In that month there were 17 filed, in August seven and in September, 12.

Woman Injured In Skid Crash

A San Rafael woman was injured last evening when her car skidded into the rear of another car on Highway 101 north of the Greenbrae overpass, the California Highway Patrol reported.

La Vonne A. Henry, 25, of 400 Canal Street, complained of pain in her left eye, and said she would see her doctor. She was cited for driving at an unsafe speed.

The other driver, Edgar P. Huffman, 63, of Mountain View, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a neck strain.

Session Reset

The next meeting of the Alto Sanitary District board will be at 8 p.m. Friday, instead of Monday as scheduled. The board will meet at the Alto-Richardson Bay fire station. The meeting was moved up to accommodate some board members who will be out of town Monday.

NOT A GOOD SCOUT?

Bobby Schmidt, 14, of San Anselmo no longer is a member of San Anselmo Boy Scout Troop 25 because, he says, he refused to cut his long hair to comply with a demand of Scoutmaster John Quinne. Quinne and Marin Scout executive Jon E. Bagshaw contend the long hair was part of a larger discipline problem when Bobby attended scout meetings, which he did not do regularly. His mother, Mrs. Barbara Schmidt of 59 Austin Avenue, vociferously defends the boy's conduct, hair length and "right" to be a troop member.

Supervisors Almost Enact Tax On Property Transfer

A tax on the transfer of real property came close to adoption yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, but was put off one week when it was discovered real estate interests were not aware of the proposed tax.

The tax, effective Jan. 1, would replace a federal excise tax expiring Dec. 31, County Administrator Alan Bruce said. If the federal tax were reinstated, the local tax would not be levied, he said.

The tax was authorized this year by the legislature in a bill which set the tax at 55 cents per $500 of value of the property transferred.

All of the tax revenue would go to the county in unincorporated areas, and the county would get half of the revenue collected in cities. The total revenue would be about $6,000 a month, Supervisor Peter H. Behr estimated.

The cities cannot enact ordinances to collect the tax until the county does so first, Bruce added.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen suggested that cities turn over to the county all of their real property transfer taxes, or a share of their sales tax revenue. This would help resolve the tax inequity for police protection which the cities want paid by residents of unincorporated areas, he said.

Kettenhofen's proposal was referred to the Marin City-County Services Committee.

Bay Universities To Join Forces

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The five higher education institutions of San Francisco today announced a plan to join in a new association, the San Francisco Consorium.

Its purpose is to mobilize their resources for the investigation and solution of urban problems.

The consortium will be similar to university-sponsored centers of urban affairs set up in New York and Los Angeles.

Funds for the consortium for the next three or four years will be sought from federal agencies and from foundations, said Dr. Jack H. Curtis of the University of San Francisco who will be executive secretary.

The announcement was made jointly by the heads of the city's major higher education institutions.

A Bomb Threat During Speech

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A telephone bomb threat disrupted an assembly at Pensacola Junior College yesterday but the principal speaker, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, finished his speech outside.

Some 1,000 students had assembled in an auditorium to hear Taylor talk on this country's involvement in Vietnam when school officials received the anonymous call.

The audience was evacuated about 25 minutes into Taylor's speech but he finished when they gathered behind the building.

Marin Cities To Get Refunding Of Sales Taxes

Marin County and its 11 cities will be getting some money from the state Board of Equalization, which is refunding a total of $7,500 throughout the state because its cost of collecting the one per cent local sales tax is lower this year.

Last year the cost was $1.53 per $100 in revenue collected; this year the cost is $1.50, state officials said. The refunds will be included in the state distributions of tax funds this month.

The County of Marin will receive $89.74; Belvedere, $1.99; Corte Madera, $60.89; Fairfax, $12.56; Larkspur, $17.88; Mill Valley, $30.26; Ross, $1.28; San Anselmo, $22.57; San Rafael, $263.90; Sausalito, $43.83; Novato, $52.41; Tiburon, $12.49.

CALIFORNIA MURDERS

Victims Usually Aren't Strangers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Justice Department reports Californians who commit homicide most often kill within their own race and the victims usually are members of their families or friends.

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch yesterday released a three-year study of 1,936 California homicides conducted by the state Bureau of Criminal Statistics from 1963-65.

The report showed that in the majority of cases the victim and the slayer were of the same race. It occurred about 70 per cent of the time for whites, 57 per cent for whites of Mexican descent and 85 per cent for Negroes.

MOSTLY WHITES

"Caucasians committed about 66 per cent of the California killings," Lynch said. "More Negroes were killed by whites than vice versa."

The report said about 65 per cent of the homicides involved family and friends. About 34 per cent occurred in domestic and family situations while 31 involved friends or strangers.

In 18 per cent of the cases, the victims and offenders were strangers and 17 per cent resulted from criminal activity, mostly connected with robberies the report said.

It concluded that defendants charged with the slayings of persons known to them had a "better chance of escaping conviction" than those who killed during robberies or other criminal incidents.

Of the defendants charged with wilful homicide resulting from domestic situations or arguments among friends and associates, it said, 72 per cent were convicted but only 6.3 per cent for first-degree murder.

In contrast, more than 84 per cent of those charged with homicides arising from other criminal activities were convicted, 53 per cent for first-degree murder.

GUNS USED

The report also disclosed:

Guns were the most common murder weapons, being used in 46 per cent of the cases.

Fourteen and four-tenths per cent of the 1,936 homicide cases remained unsolved.

Of the 2,178 charged with wilful homicide, 1,777 were held for prosecution and 69.3 per cent were convicted.

The median age for those prosecuted in criminal courts was 29.7 years.

Of those prosecuted 13.5 per cent were convicted of first-degree murder. 18.4 per cent of second degree murder and 38.5 per cent of manslaughter.

Sixteen per cent of the men prosecuted were convicted of first - degree murder while 3.5 per cent of the women received such verdicts.

Of the 39 persons sentenced to death, 24 were white, 2 were white of Mexican descent and 13 were Negroes.

Osteopaths Link Warlike Trends To Toilet Training

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The consistent warlike nature of some nations may be closely linked to the rigid toilet training prevalent in their cultures, a Philadelphia psychiatrist told the American Osteopathic Association today.

Dr. Irwin Rothman, speaking before the Association's 72nd annual convention, suggested that studies of the influence of toilet training on the national traits of various countries show that it had a lasting effect on the individual's personality development.

IN MANY CULTURES

In many authoritatarian cultures, he said, this training is very strict and early—often producing tension, hostility and stubborness the individual never quite outgrows.

This may determine why these individuals, acting together as a national culture, are traditionally warlike and authoritarian — while others with less rigid toilet training are peaceful and democratic, Rothman added.

A pediatrician told the convention today that parents should train their children to stand tall to avoid the painful back and neck disorders that will come in later years from sloppy posture.

POOR POSTURE

Dr. Rachel H. Woods of McCall, Idaho cited a study of 1,393 Yale University freshmen in which it was found that only 25 per cent had normal spinal curvature.

Calling the study "alarming," she pointed out that the subjects were not middle aged or elderly persons who could be expected to have posture problems, but young men just out of high school and presumably in the prime of health.

ATOMIC WOMEN

Dr. Woods added that in an age of preventive medicine, "it seems ironic" that treatment for posture problems is so often delayed until adulthood or later when such problems are less easily corrected.

An osteopathic physician and author told the convention yesterday that modern women are like an atomic reactor about to explode.

Dr. J. Dudley Chapman of North Madison, Ohio, said that sexual emancipation of women has created widespread confusion over her role.

"Today, women have the freedom to choose. New values are being sought, a new man and a new woman," he said, adding that women need help to adjust to "an unprecedented degree of freedom."

ANTIMORAL TREND

Chapman, author of "The Feminine Mind and Body," said one result of the sexual confusion is that "we see an antimoral movement in which making love is cool and passionless. Sex is to be fun and games, and one might conclude, more games than fun."

The Association, representing 13,000 American osteopathic physicians, will continue its convention through tomorrow.

Plans To Operate Ambulance Halted

A proposal to operate a county ambulance in San Geronimo Valley was dropped without discussion yesterday by the board of supervisors.

The reason was the $15,084 annual cost to man the ambulance with two additional firemen. Also necessary, said administrative analyst Timothy M. Jackson, would be $2,020 to rejuvenate a 1960 ambulance available from the federal government at no cost.

"With those costs involved, it's unbelievable," said Supervisor Thomas T. Storer after the meeting.

"No evidence has been received to indicate avoidable loss of life under present arrangements," said Jackson. Two private companies now serve the valley from San Rafael.

Talk On Vietnam

First Lt. Alan E. Caffey of the Two Rock Ranch Army Base, Sonoma County, will speak on "Vietnam" to the members of the Tomales-Novato Center of the Marin County Farm Bureau at 8 p.m. Monday at Tomales High School.

VFW Upset Over Burials In Arlington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the first time, one of the nation's major veterans' organizations will not be represented at Veterans Day ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery Nov. 11.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars announced yesterday that it would boycott the ceremonies to protest the Defense Department's limitation on burials at Arlington, now the site of 145,000 graves.

Joseph A. Scerra, of Gardner, Mass., VFW commander in chief, charged the Johnson administration with discrimination in issuing the order last Feb. 10 and asked that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara rescind it immediately.

The controversial order, opposed by most veterans' organizations, limits burials at Arlington—the nation's most famous national cemetery—to servicemen who died while on active duty, retired career servicemen, and veterans who attained a high position in government.

The Pentagon said the limitations were necessary because Arlington was running out of space.

Election Set

Officers of the Marin County Humane Society will be elected at the annual board meeting at 3 p.m. Nov. 9 at the society office, 402 Third Street, San Rafael.

General Fund In Red $387.2 Million

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state's General Fund had a cash deficit of $387.2 million as of Sept. 30, Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest reported yesterday.

The deficit was offset by $395 million in loans from the state's special funds.

Purses Prowled

Thefts of cash from purses left in employees' lockers at the Pepperwood Restaurant in San Anselmo's Red Hill Shopping Center were reported by employee Vickie Lawrence of San Rafael to police yesterday. She said she had $15 taken from her purse and that two other employees had small amounts of cash stolen.

Christmas Savers Expect $2.8 Million Checks Soon

Bank offices and savings and loan branches in Marin will be giving out $2,793,544 in Christmas club savings in the new two weeks to 13,618 persons who presumably will go on a pre-holiday spending spree.

But one bank official noted that some save for a less happy occasion: pre-holiday tax paying.

The Christmas club savings from 40 bank branches and nine savings and loan offices compares to $2,650,000 saved last year by 13,000 persons. The 1965 figures were $2,580,000 by 13,500.

The largest amount will come from the 11 branches of Crocker-Citizens National Bank with $791,000 going to 4,005 persons.

The 12 branches of Bank of America will give out $655,554 to 2,616 persons; Wells Fargo's six branches will have $583,000 for 3,118 persons.

Top figures for savings and loan associations are from Northwestern Savings and Loan's two branches, sending out $156,827 to 500 persons. Ross Valley Savings and Loan is next in line with $93,500 going to 305 persons.

New Trial In Driving Case

HONOLULU (AP) — The 1966 first degree murder conviction of Michael Patrick Moeller was set aside yesterday by the Hawaii Supreme Court.

The high court ordered a new trial for Moeller because of prejudicial errors made by Circuit Court Judge Allen Hawkins who presided over the trial.

Moeller, 25, formerly of Napa, Calif., was found guilty in the 1965 sniper slaying of a Honolulu policeman.

The state supreme court heart an appeal last June 28 from Moeller's attorney, James A. King, who told the court there was no malice in Moeller's actions. He said it there was any murder at all it was second degree.

Plight Of Orphans Stirs A Marinite

By MARY LEYDECKER

LT. ANTONE SOUSA
Friend of orphans

"These kids need everything," wrote a young Army lieutenant to his family in San Anselmo about the plight of children in one of Vietnam's many orphanages.

From the involvement of First Lt. Antone Sousa, a 24-year-old intelligence officer with the Hoi Duc Anh orphanage in Saigon, has come an effort by his parents to send assistance to the children, from Marin County.

Lieutenant Sousa, the son of San Anselmo Fire Chief Frank Sousa and Mrs. Sousa of 40 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo, has been in Vietnam about six months, his mother said.

He serves with the combined intelligence unit in Saigon, which has for some time been assisting the orphanage, and he is now chairman for this project.

After receiving letters from him describing the desperate needs of the orphans, his parents started their own program of assistance. Chief Sousa has interested the San Anselmo Lions Club in collecting clothing and money, and Mrs. Sousa makes several trips a week to the post office to mail the clothing.

In addition to raising money to add to the orphanage building and to supply many of the needs of the children there, Lieutenant Sousa and his friends spend a great deal of time at the orphanage.

"Every Sunday is orphanage day," he wrote to his parents, saying that "the kids or so cute and want affection so badly." So said the little girls like to wear his army cap and that he recently taught a group of them to play jacks with a set his mother sent.

Mrs. Sousa explained she had made little bundles in sandwich bags of small toys, marbles and jacks and sent them along with the clothing.

"My son says not to send toys that need repairing because the orphanage has no equipment to fix them," Mrs. Sousa added, saying that her son recommended rubber balls as good toys to send.

"He wrote that the soldiers are also making a merry-go-round for the children," she said.

Sousa also told his parents that the fatality rate at the orphanage has gone down from four a month to one every two or three months since the Army men started helping support it.

Lack of funds had apparently been the cause of death from malnutrition or inadequate medical care, he said.

The orphanage has 400 children, mostly from one to seven years old, he added. "None speaks much English, but they try and we communicate with each other," Lt. Sousa wrote.

His last letter home described a child he had picked up and played with on a Sunday visit. The boy "squealed with delight," he wrote "and then I realized he was blind. I can still see him standing there as I left — so totally alone."

Mrs. Sousa said she would welcome contributions of both clothing and money as she has been paying all the postage herself. She added that her son says the clothing and toys are arriving quickly as she sends them "standby air mail."

Bay Burning Controls On Orchards, Grapes

The few orchard operators and grape growers in Marin beginning today face new restrictions on burning of cuttings, under a ruling passed by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

With some exceptions, burning of prunings is allowed only from Dec. 1 to April 30. This will affect a few walnut orchards near Lagunitas and Novato, which have relatively few prunings, and an acre of grapes grown near Novato, said R. Allan Ballard, assistant county agricultural commissioner.

During the burning season, orchard prunings may be burned only on days when meteorological conditions will best cut the effects of smoke, the pollution control district reported. Each day during the season, the decision on whether burning may be done will be broadcast at 8:30 a.m. on radio station KNBR.

If burning is allowed, orchardists still must telephone the district and receive permission to burn.

An exception to the burning restriction is allowed for diseased or infested plants which may be burned if permission is obtained from the county office of the county agricultural commissioner at the Civic Center.

37 Cases Of Strep Reported

The 37 cases of strep infections reported in Marin last week topped the list of communicable diseases from the Marin County Department of Public Health.

There were nine cases in Novato, six in Corte Madera, four each in San Rafael and Mill Valley, with other cases scattered throughout the county.

There were 33 cases of gonorrhea, nine in San Rafael, six in Mill Valley, five in Sausalito and others reported throughout Marin. Thirteen cases of mumps, 10 of infectious hepatitis and two cases of syphilis were reported during the week.

Rules Altered Despite 'Planning Czar' Blast

A Marin supervisor tried to limit County Planning Director Paul Zucker's authority in building design review, calling the planning direcor "the czar of planning in Marin County."

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen refereed to Zucker as "the czar" during yesterday's discussion of a proposed design review procedure to replace the present "architectural supervision" procedure now in use.

The supervisors, in a 3-2 vote, approved the new design review procedure, over the objections of Kettenhofen and Supervisor John F. McInnis.

McInnis called for more informatiion before approving the new procedure. McInnis wanted to know if the planning director's rejection of an application is inhibiting applicants from taking advantage of appeal procedures that are provided. McInnis also wanted duplexes removed from the design review.

The new design review procedure would exempt single family homes, subdivisions, and certain agricultural structures as at present. But it would include duplexes and certain industrial and commercial structures.

Under the new procedure, every applicant for a building would have the choice of having his request processed through the planning director or through the planning commission.

Planning Director Zucker argued that this choice will work to the applicant's advantage because he could get his project processed in 12 days through the planning staff without going through the planning commission.

If the planning director disapproves, the applicant has the right to appeal to the planning commission and to the board of supervisors.

"I am not in favor of giving the planning director the power to turn down an application," said Kettenhofen. "He simply should not be given the power of, in a sense, the czar of planning in Marin County."

"The appliant himself has the original choice of going to the planning director or the planning commission," replied Supervisor Peter H. Behr. Pointing out that an application not approved by the planning director can be applealed to the planning commission and supervisors, Behr declared: "Nobody is a czar who has a commission and a board over him. A czar is at the top."

Supervisors Thomas T. Storer and William A. Gnoss joined Behr to approve the new design review procedure.

Loan Deadline Can Be Extended

Cal-Vet loan holders who have taken out special loans from the state Department of Veterans Affairs to pay property taxes, may have the loan deadline extended.

The tax loan, normally due in six months, may be continued if the veteran applies to a district office of the Division of Farm and Home Purchases before Dec. 1, state officials said. The nearest office for Marinites is Room 1038, 350 McAllister Street, San Francisco.

Canton Rioting Claims 20 More

HONG KONG (AP) — Twenty persons were killed and about 30 were wounded this week in Canton when Chinese army troops clashed with 200 out-of-work textile workers, travelers arriving from Red China said today.

The troops were called in after the laborers surrounded their factory, which had closed because there was not enough work.

"The workers attacked the soldiers with meat cleavers, iron bars, clubs and their bare fists," said one traveler. "the injured were rushed to a Canton hospital and the dead were taken away in trucks."

New Trial On Murder Ordered

REDWOOD CITY AP) — The San Mateo County Appeals Court has ordered a new trial for Virginia Hanley, 30-year-old Palo Alto pacifist convicted of recklessly driving her auto near a truck loaded with napalm.

The three judges ruled "numerous prejudicial errors" were permitted to get into the record of the first trial last January.

"Unfortunately, a relatively simple traffic trial was treated by all parties concerned as a platform from which to air the pros and cons of the War in Vietnam and the use of the napalm bomb," the court said.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Twelfth Night' By ACT Lacks The Human Element

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — The American Conservatory Theater opened its second season last night at the Geary with a brilliantly conceived production of William Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night, or What You Will."

ACT general director William Ball, with subtle choreography achieves at times a feeling of greatness which is not usually associated with "Twelfth Night" a comedy of overblown love, a girl twin disguised as a boy, and crew of drunken comedians.

Scenes which freeze into carefully staged tableaux are visually effective, aided by Lewis Brown's rich costumes. Stuart Wurtzel's severely simple setting lends itself to the staging. There are several stellar performances, and every member of the large cast is at least adequate.

What then can't I begin with "This is a magnificent production"? Because —except for a few scattered moments —the play lacks humanity. It is played for poetry and rhythm; for the sound of Shakespeare, and most of it left me with the feeling that I was hearing an expert reading of a great play, not seeing a group of human beings involved in living, no matter how exaggerated their lives may be.

Since the best performances came from those actors who played the life of the lines rather than the poetry, an uneven play resulted.

In noting the best parts of "Twelfth Night" it is first necessary to explain that the production has been triple-cast. The actors I cite may not be playing the role when you see it, and this could make a difference. The triple-casting was done for fluidity of repertory, as well as allowing a full road show to perform independently.

Ken Ruta's Malvolio is the outstanding character in the show, and Ball, in his treatment of Olivia's "gulled" steward, allows Sir Toby and Feste to relent and show compassion when they have Malvolio at the breaking point. The ensuing moment between David Grimm as Feste and Ruta is a touching and very human one.

The director has Duke Orsino's budding love for Viola begin to show while she is yet disguised as a boy, and Paul Shenar, whom I found overdone elsewhere, handles this bit so well that the final switching of affection from Olivia to Viola becomes believable.

DeAnn Mears is a fresh and warm Viola, while Carol Mayo Jenkins as Olivia tends to erupt uncontrollably. Glenn Mazen's lank-haired Sir Andrew Aguecheek is consistently funny, and his duel with Viola an absolute riot.

Ray Reinhardt, after a slow start, warmed to Sir Toby Belch and gave a first rate performance.

One of the best scenes Ball has conceived is that in which Angela Paton as Maria is so overcome with laughter that she cannot tell Toby and Fabian of Malvolio's appearance in yellow stockings and cross garters. Unable to speak, she gulps, gasps and gurgles to an ever-mounting roar from the audience. However, Ball allows her to go too long, spoiling the effect of Fabian's being overcome by the same hysteria. However, Miss Paton's Maria is a real and lovely character.

Good support comes from George Ede, Mark Bramhall and Michael Lerner.

ACT will be feeding shows into the repertory at regular intervals from now on, with "Dear Liar" scheduled for Friday night.

The shortest distance across the United States, ocean to ocean, is a straight line from near Charleston, S.C. to near San Diego, Calif.—2,152 miles.

Performance Set By Ballot

A performance of the ballet, "Miss Margaret, 1909-1967," will be given by the Marin Civic Ballet at 5 p.m. Sunday in Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

It is a sentimental tale of an old maid watching a group of mod teen-agers dancing. It has a flashback to her own youth, to the boy she loved and lost. The story returns to the present and she sees a similar episode among the mods of today.

Two other ballets, "Pas de Quatre" and "Paquita," will be on the program. A wine tasting social will precede the ballet.

Group Calls School Idea Unrealistic

A group of Mill Valley citizen is circulating petitions asking city officials to reconsider a decision against establishing a joint city-school development in the Project 17 area.

The group's statement says the city's "insistence on an acre-for-acre land exchange is unrealistic" because the city's 17 acres was a gift which connot be used commercially, while the school district's 11 acres next to the future yacht harbor have high potential value.

The group proposes the city contribute acreage for the joint venture and the school district pay for developing it.

The plan was for a middle school for all of the Mill Valley district, plus a recreational and park facility.

The group says "insuperable obstacles" may still bar the Project 17 site, but asked city officials to explore the proposal again.

The school district board, which favored the Project 17 site, last month indicated the middle school will probably go on the Alto-Edna Maguire School site instead, because the Project 17 site would cost $400,000 too much to develop.

Petitions are being circulated by Mrs. Carl Hepp, Mrs. Leo V. Killion, John Cutler, Mrs. Ross Shade, Mrs. Lincoln B. Shea and Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold Ladar.

Puerto Ricans living in their homeland do not pay federal taxes because they have no voting representative in Congress.

RETRACTS TESTIMONY—Robert Lee Massie, 25-year-old San Quentin inmate who faces death in the gas chamber tomorrow, testifies in Los Angeles that he named John Robert Vetter as an accomplice in a 1965 robbery-slaying at San Gabriel because he "ran out on me." Massie was to take the stand again today. (AP Wirephoto)

Convict Facing Death Claims No Accomplice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A convict facing death in the San Quentin gas chamber says the man convicted with him for a 1965 murder-robbery didn't take part in the crime.

Robert Lee Massie, 25, testified that he implicated co-defendant John Robert Vetter, 37, because "I was mad at the guy for running out on me" in Phoenix, Ariz., two days after the shooting.

(San Quentin officials said they understood that Massie, who is scheduled to die in the gas chamber tomorrow, has not yet finished his testimony.

(A prison official said the California Attorney General's office will be contacted today for a legal ruling on the prison's position.

("This is more or less without precedent," said the spokesman. "It is beginning to appear unlikely that Massie will die tomorrow.")

Gov Ronald Reagan stayed Massie's execution through today so Massie could testify at Vetter's retrial.

Both were convicted of the fatal shooting of Mildred Weiss, 48, when she and her husband were attacked in the driveway of their San Gabriel home Jan. 7, 1963.

Massie said his finger was on the trigger of his pistol which fired when Mrs. Weiss grabbed for it.

He testified he told police afterward that Vetter was with him but that actually a man called "Smitty" was the companion.

Vetter was convicted in 1965 of being Massie's accomplice and was sentenced to life in prison. However, the state Supreme Court ordered a second trial on grounds that out-of-court statements made by one defendant may not be used as evidence against another.

Vetter now faces charges of attempted murder, attempted robbery and robbery.

Massie testified he met "Smitty" at a downtown Los Angeles bar the night of the shooting and the two joined in several holdups. He said he didn't know "Smitty's" name or where he could be found.

Sausalitan To Higher Court On Marijuana Selling Count

A 36-year-old Sausalito man, accused of selling a large quantity of marijuana to an undercover state narcotics agent, was bound over to Marin Superior Court for trial following a preliminary hearing yesterday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest Zunino said after the Marin Municipal Court hearing that the suspect, William George Moore of 510 Johnson Street, will be arraigned in the higher court at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 20.

Moore allegedly first sold the agent, Jesse Foster, enough marijuana, enough for about 50 cigarettes, then on Sept. 4 sold him 10 ounces of marijuana, enough for about 500 cigarettes or $500 worth at street sale value, Foster said.

Foster testified yesterday he first learned Moore was a supplier when a roommate of Fred John Becker, 47, of 1304 Leafwood Drive, Novato, reported Becker had marijuana in his bedroom.

Foster said investigation resulted in arrest of Becker and Moore's identity as the supplier was learned.

Becker is scheduled for preliminary hearing on a charge of marijuana possession Nov. 27. Case of a co-defendant with Moore, Joan Anita Mann, 19, of 313 Via Hildago, Greenbrae, has been transferred to juvenile court for handling as a minor. They are accused of selling marijuana.

San Francisco County Jail Escapee Captured

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The prisoner, who staged the first escape from San Francisco's seventh floor county jail No. 1, was captured last night in a parked car at San Leandro.

Joseph Gambos, 35, arrested on a narcotics charge, offered no resistance when San Francisco, San Leandro and Alameda County officers surrounded the car.

Three other men and a woman were arrested with Gambos on charges of conspiracy and being accessories to an escape.

Gambos and two other prisoners fashioned a rope from blankets, slid five stories down the face of the Hall of Justice and dropped the remaining two. The other two were injured and recaptured but Gambos disappeared.

Gambos was arrested last April at a San Francisco Nob Hill apartment where narcotics agents picked up about $50,000 in heroin.

Courthouse Nappers To Juvenile Hall

Three teen-age girls, two 15 and the other 17, were booked into Juvenile Hall by San Rafael police today after Sgt. Phillip Green found a group of young people asleep on a bench outside the county courthouse at 3:20 a.m.

The two 15-year-olds were reported to be runaways from the Mendocino State Hospital. One claimed she was a 'speed freak," user of methedrine, and appeared under the influence of the drug, said police.

Raid At Cabin Nets Bank Holdup Suspects

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP) — Two men wanted in a suburban Chicago bank robbery in which two policemen were slain were seized last night at a lake cottage used by one of them as a hideout 11 years ago.

A posse of federal, state and county police officers, acting on a tip, went to the cabin and arrested Clifton O. Daniels, 29, Wilmington, Ill., and Henry M. Gargano, 35. Gargano was found in bed, seriously wounded and "too weak to move."

Two women in the cabin at Fox Lake 12 miles southeast of this northern Indiana city also were arrested. Police identified them as Mary F. Cook, 30, and Annette Gargano Leonardo, 29, both of Lemont, Ill.

Daniels and Gargano were charged in the $83,783 holdup Friday of a Northlake, Ill., bank. The FBI said most of the loot was recovered in the cottage.

A gun battle at the bank between police and the three masked robbers killed officer John J. Nagle Jr., 31, and Anthony P. Perri, 41. Two other policemen were wounded along with Ronald D. Raine, 35, one of the robbers who was charged with two counts of murder.

FBI agent Harold A. Berg of South Bend, who led the raid, said the cabin was owned by Gargano's grandfather and that Gargano "used it as a hideout" 1956 after a bank robbery in Francesville, Ind."

Parents Held In Poisoning Deaths Of Their Children

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — The parents of seven small children who died last week of parathion poisoning were in jail today after taking lie detector tests which Desoto County Judge Gordon Hays said showed the father had "guilty knowledge of the poisoning."

James Richardson, 32, was originally booked into Desoto County jail last night on a charge of first degree murder but later warrants were issued charging him and his wife, Annie Mae, 29, with child neglect.

Hays said, "We're going to issue murder warrants tomorrow. The judge said he decided to wait until Charlie Smith, a Richardson neighbor could undergo a lie detector test this morning.

Richardson and his wife voluntarily took the lie tests yesterday while interviews were conducted by Sheriff Frank Cline, State Atty. Frank Schaffer taking the detector tests which Desoto County Judge Gordon Hays said showed the father had "guilty knowledge of the poisoning."

"The polygraph tests showed Richardson had guilty knowledge of the poisoning of the seven children," Hays said.

Results of polygraph tests are not admissible as evidence in Florida courts.

The judge also said laboratory tests showed the children received the parathion in their food. Hays said tests showed traces of the poison of utensils in the Richardson kitchen.

Six children died last Wednesday and the seventh perished the next morning. All were stricken after lunching on plates of grits, rice, beans and hog head.

Lynda Bird Studies Military Protocol

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lynda Bird Johnson should find it relatively easy to switch from the demands of White House protocol to military protocol when she marries Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb.

Lynda, who has graciously met the social demands thrust upon her as the oldest daughter of President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, will blend the two types of rigorous protocol when she and Robb are married Dec. 9.

Lynda and the White House staff most likely will rely heavily on the Pentagon, numerous etiquette books and a book entitled "The Marine Corps Wife" in planning the wedding.

Amy Vanderbilt, who wrote "The New Complete Book of Etiquette," says for example that "military personnel never wear boutonnieres in their lapels even at weddings."

SHE ALSO GOES into considerable detail describing the correct way to conduct the "sword-crossing" ceremony which Lynda and Robb will perform in the White House East Room after the marriage ceremony.

Miss Vanderbilt states:

"In a service wedding where the groom is a commissioned officer, brother officers in uniform acting as ushers make the arch of swords for the bride and groom either at the foot of the chancel steps at the end of the ceremony or, if the couple prefers, outside if the weather is good.

"In the first case, as soon as the ceremony is over, the ushers line up, and at the command 'draw swords' from the head ushers unsheathe their swordblades (blades up) and make the ceremonial arch for the bride and groom only to pass through, then sheathe their swords at the command 'return swords' and escort the seven bridesmaids down the aisle..."

She further states that in cases such as the Johnson-Robb wedding where there will be seven male attendants, civilian and military attendants line up side by side standing at attention.

MISS VANDERBILT adds that: "Military ushers because their swords are worn on the left side, offer their right arms to the bridesmaids at all times. The bride stands to the right of the bridegroom when he is in full uniform."

It can be expected that somewhere in the ceremony the military attendants will salute President Johnson, chief of all the forces.

The "Marine Corps Wife," considered a "bible of deportment," suggests among other things that during the wedding ceremony the bride should appear sweet and serious, but not in the least self-conscious.

For Robb, the book suggests that while some bridegrooms look glum or scared, the Marine groom should smile as he watches his bride coming down the aisle on the arm of her father.

THAT LITTLE BOOK, written by Sally Hunter Jerome and Nancy Brinton Shea, also reminds a marine wife that her husband, first of all, is married to the corps.

FUN FOR NEWCOMERS

Marin Jewish Community Center will honor new members at a newcomers dance at the center on north San Pedro Road Saturday evening. Planning the decorations for the autumn event are Mesdames Irwin Taranto, Martin Einbinder and Martin Austin. Mrs. Taranto is co-chairman with Mrs. Jerry Sher. Tickets will be available at the door. A midnight buffet will be served during the dance. (Independent-Journal photo)

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Touring Mill-Valleyans Return

By MOLLY MARIN

Many Mill Valleyans are traveling in Europe this fall. Among those just returned are the John R. Barnards, Robert S. Scotts and the Rev Gordon L. Foster and Mrs. Foster.

The Barnards visited England, Ireland and France but spent most of their time in Spain. An extraordinary incident was their being in the tiny principality of Andora between Spain and France when De Gaulle was there, the first time a ruler of France had been there in the eleven and a half centuries since Charlemagne. They heard the French president speak.

THEY WERE surprised to find Ireland so small that there are only 16 policemen and one phone book for the entire country. One memorable experience was attending one of the Medieval feasts at Bunrathy Castle, where food is eaten with knives shaped like daggers, and the drink is a potent one of apple cider and honey. Highlights in Spain were seeing in Granada on Columbus Day the placing of a wreath between the coffins of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella, visiting Santillana del Mar, the finest Medieval town in Europe and the perfectly preserved walled city of Avila with its 88 towers and nine gates.

THEY HIGHLY recommend the inexpensive paradors and alberges run as hotels through the country by the Spanish government, many of which are located in old castles. In England the Barnards main interest was in the Houses of Parliament and Lord Nelson's flagship, The H.M.S. "Victory," at Portsmouth. The Hovercraft that make the trip from there to the Isle of Wight drew their fascinated attention since these are being considered as a mode of transportation on San Francisco Bay. Cornwall with the happiest people they had ever seen and incredibly beautiful countryside was the favorite spot on their trip for the Rev. and Mrs. Foster (He is pastor of the Mill Valley Community Church.) They spent a week there, nine days in London, a week in Paris, another favorite place, and four days in Edinburgh. The itinerary of the Robert Scotts included France, Italy, Germany and England. Stratford-on-Avon was the high point of their trip, and they too found the English countryside captivating.

MRS. GEORGE M. CAGWIN and the Cagwins' 10-month-old baby daughter Tania have returned to Mill Valley from a visit with relatives in Bexhill, Sussex, England. Her grandmother, Mrs. Ivo Davis, had seen the baby, but it was their first glimpse of their great granddaughter for Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stavert.

MARINITES PLANNING to attend the Children's Garden Auction Party at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel Saturday evening are Messrs. and Mesdames D. Power Boothe, Melvin H. Brown, R. H. Colnett, John Dreyfus, Parker Edwards, Horace Hill, Robin Skewes-Cox and Robert L. Woodward, and Mesdames Earl W. Bailey, Rudolph Drews, Webster Otis and W. L. Warner.

A SON, Mark Edward, has been welcomed into the family of Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Parodi of Tiburon. He was born in San Francisco Oct. 19. The infant is the grandson of Thomas Hughes of San Francisco and the late Mrs. Hughes, and of Constantino Parodi of Fairfax and the late Mrs. Parodi. He will be christened at St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

RENEWING friendships in Mill Valley last week were former Mill Valley City Manager Alex Almcrants and Mrs. Almcrants, who are now living in Hood River, Ore. They visited their daughter, Mrs. David De Gere, in Mill Valley and other relatives in the area.

MR. AND MRS. Woodward Melone of Novato have returned from a business-pleasure trip to Palm Springs. Mr. Melone, vice-president of Firemen's Fund-American, was one of the hosts at the independent insurance agents convention.

Pipedreams And Promises Tempt Young Wife From Her Vows

EAR HELEN:
I have been married nine ears and have four lovely ildren. My husband is 53 and m 24. He is as nice as any oman could want, but he has ecome old and set in his ways. le also won't buy me a home.

Helen, there is a man my age ho wants us both to get a ivorce so we can be married. Ie has one child and has been narried three years.

I don't know whether I love im or not, but I am thinking of ny children. If I stay with my husband, they will miss out on ome of the good things in life, ike a new house. The young nan will give them anything heir hearts desire. He says he'll even pay for my divorce.

What to do? — UNDECIDED

DEAR UN:
Promises, promises.

Knock off listening to this fellow's pipedreams and concentrate on the promises you made before a minister nine years ago. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
Our 16-year-old daughter was fatally injured in an automobile accident in June. As Christmas draws near, I don't feel that I want to send cards, since I can't include her name.

How can I express my appreciation for the cards people send? — MRS. H.

DEAR MRS. H:
People will understand if you skip Christmas this year, but I wonder if it is wise? You can't run away from the holidays. Perhaps you make them more bearable by getting back to the business of living. Wouldn't your daughter want things that way? In deepest sympathy — H.

DEAR HELEN:
My husband met and fell in love with another woman a year ago. They still write to each other, but he no longer sees her.

He says he also loves me and our child.

Can a man be in love with two women at the same time, and what would you advise me to do? — W.F.A.

DEAR W:
Yes, a man can love two women at the same time, but not equally. Your husband made his choice when the other woman moved away. Let him know you understand temptation and you're glad he chose for you — and I think the letters will soon stop coming. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
I wonder how often wives jump to the wrong conclusions, when husbands withdraw and are no longer loving. Their first thought is, "He's found someone else." The second, "He's being unfaithful."

Possibly the withdrawal is not "cheating," but a temporary attraction to another woman — which he is fighting. Surely a man whose wife could love him must inspire love in other women. If he is at a susceptible time in life he's open to flattery. He lets his imagination wander, and so his wife senses something is wrong. But he draws the line at seduction. And all the time he tries to resist temptation.

Wives should be especially warm to their men at "the dangerous age." A doubting woman can push a man into the arms of the tempter, while an affectionate wife brings him back where he belongs.

This is what many don't seem to realize: honorable men and women can be attracted to one another without ever seriously considering divorce, and certainly not unfaithfulness. Only hate is an evil emotion. People should not be condemned for love FELT, but only for deeds committed. Temptation resisted shows strength of character, while no temptation may only mean no manhood in the first place . . . And a man (or a woman) can love a mate and still be drawn to someone else . . . but not for long. Not with the right understanding at home. — ONE WHO KNOWS

Marin's Dietary Services Report An All-Time High

Dietary services of the Marin County Heart Association were reported at an all-time high this past year. More than 600 Marinites availed themselves of the individual consultation service offered by appointment for patients with special diet needs.

Patients are given individual diet information in areas of low fat, low sodium or other special diets as indicated by the physician referral. Forty-three physicians in Marin referred patients for the consultation program this past year.

Consultation is given on what foods are allowed, in what amounts and what substitutions can be made. A nutrition history of the patient is made at the initial visit from which the dietitian makes up special diets closely related to the established food patterns. Initial visits are followed by return appointments to chart progress.

Preparation of tasty foods controlling fat, restrictions in sodium or sugar pose many challenges for the person on special diet. Palatable diets are planned for each individual case by Marin County Heart Association dietician, Shirley Sichel of Belvedere.

Individual consultation services, upon physician referral, are available each Wednesday. Appointments may be made by calling the Marin County Heart Association, San Rafael.

Setting The Record Straight On Vietnam

As the debate over Vietnam grows hotter with the approach of Election Year, spokesmen for the Administration are taking to the hustings (and President Johnson to television) to justify our role there.

This is welcome. Certainly the Administration should not sit silently while opponents berate it from all directions.

However, there is a disquieting tendency by Administration spokesmen—and even by the President himself—to rewrite history.

A REVIEW OF HOW we got into Vietnam, and of who made what commitiments there, appears in order.

Our involvement began in 1950, under President Truman, with granting of monetary aid to France, which was then battling to save its last hold in former French Indochina (now North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia).

France lost, bit by bit. And with her withdrawal in prospect, President Eisenhower in March, 1954, propounded his "domino theory" — that the loss of Vietnam might cause nearby countries to topple like dominoes.

France pulled out after losing the prolonged battle of Dien Bien Phu that same year. The victors were the Vietminh under Ho Chi Minh.

A GENEVA CONFERENCE followed which ran a military demarcation line across Vietnam, declaring it "is provisional and should not in any way be interpreted as constituting a political or territorial boundary." That was the beginning of North and South Vietnam.

The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, set up the same year with the United States as a member, recognized the line and gave South Vietnam separate status as a "protocol state."

The United States promptly began giving economic aid to non-Communist South Vietnam. In a letter to Premier Ngo Dinh Diem in October, 1954, President Eisenhower specified: "The government of the United States expects that this aid will be met by performance on the part of the government of Vietnam in undertaking needed reforms."

THE GENEVA ACCORD called for a national election throughout Vietnam in 1956. The partition made that impossible. Also, it appeared that however the election was set up, Communist Ho and the Vietminh would win. The election was cancelled by Diem.

U.S. money involvement continued to grow. And after John F. Kennedy succeeded to the presidency, a handful of U.S. military advisers sent to South Vietnam was augmented to more than 25,000 — many of them enlisted men who actually fought alongside the Vietnamese troops they trained.

South Vietnam, however, was not winning what had become a combination civil uprising by the Vietcong (successors to the Vietminh) in the south and invasion by North Vietnamese.

IN THE 1964 ELECTION campaign, Republican Barry Goldwater called for an all-out attack on North Vietnam to get the war over with — the same line still urged by the "hawks." President Johnson, seeking his first full term, called for caution and "limited involvement."

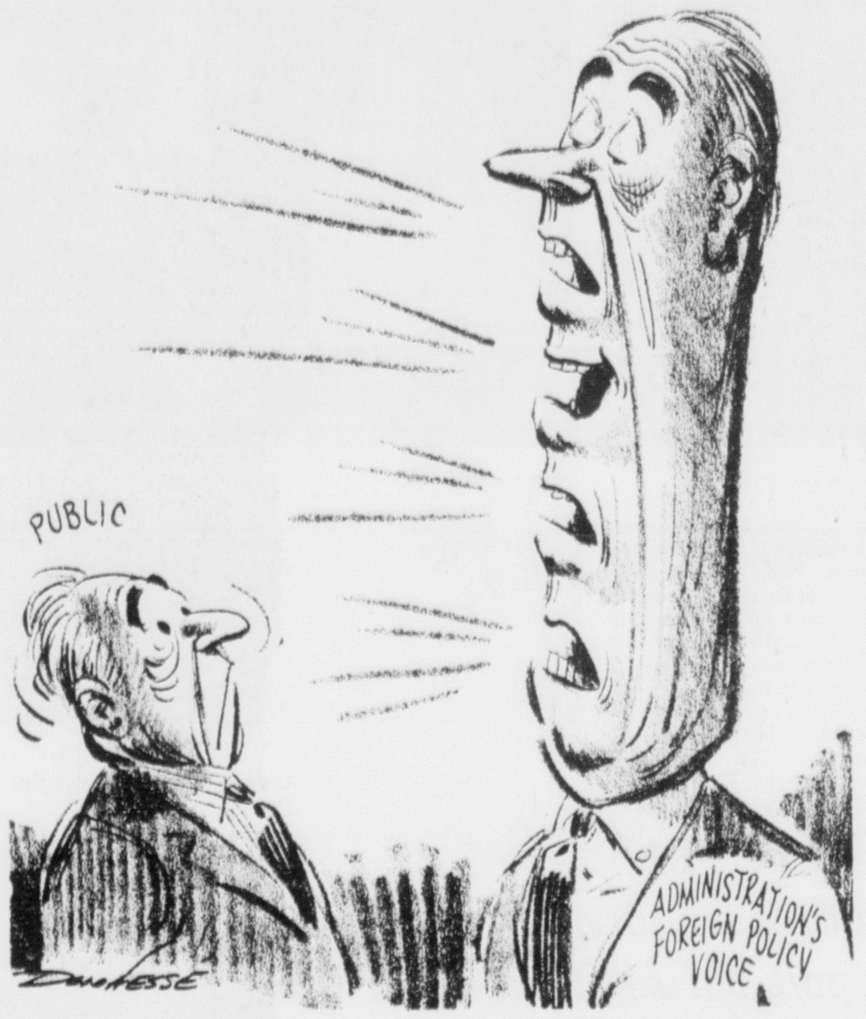
However, on Aug. 3 — midway in the campaign — a North Vietnamese gunboat fired on a U.S. destroyer in the Gulf of Tonkin. The following day, U.S. planes sank or damaged 25 North Vietnamese patrol boats in retaliation. And on Aug. 7, Johnson got from the Senate the "Gulf of Tonkin resolution" authorizing him to take whatever steps necessary "to repel armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

SOON AFTER the November election gave President Johnson a four-year term, the big build-up began.

We now have over a half million troops in Vietnam. The war there is costing us nearly $30 billion per year. It has cost us over 100,000 casualties.

Neither President Eisenhower nor President Kennedy committed U.S. military units to Vietnam — only individual "advisers." U.S. planes did not bomb North Vietnam until President Johnson began the buildup. Neither the Geneva accord nor the SEATO treaty committed the U.S. to send troops.

We think the Administration should admit its responsibility and not try to claim it was inherited from its predecessors. We think the debate will be more productive if both sides stick to the facts.



ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Don't Overlook 'Other Rockefeller' —Arkansans Like What He's Doing

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — He doesn't look like a Rockefeller, doesn't talk like a reformer, doesn't act like a politician.

And he certainly doesn't give the impression that he is the man who is fanning a good-sized political hurricane in Arkansas and, in its wake, putting down the roots of healthy two-party government in the South as they haven't been put down in a century.

But it's happening.

The voters of Arkansas may have surprised even themselves by abruptly ending the 93 years of Democratic rule last fall. Now they are reaping the whirlwind.

It's pretty revolutionary, and most Arkansans like it.

THE EVIDENCE is that they welcome what he's doing — this other Governor Rockefeller, Winthrop, that is, the six-foot-three non-politician with the Will Rogers smile, the plodding orator whom the disarrayed Democrats hopelessly tried in the campaign to portray as an unemployed millionaire interloper, an eastern dandy decorated with fancy boots and cowboy hat.

But it was the old-line, backward-looking Democrats who were out of touch with the winds of change blowing in this state which had become fed up with appeals to bigotry and race prejudice as a cover-up for bad government.

The way the improbable Winthrop is emerging as a get-things done governor, there will be two Rockefellers who will be exerting substantial influence on the choice of the 1968 Republican presidential nominee.

THE LONG DEMOCRATIC dominance of the state was bound to come to an end, but when it came, the expectation was that it would be by the hand of the type like conservative Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida. Hardly anyone dreamed that a Democratic conservative would be defeated by a moderate to liberal Republican, that a "hillbilly fox" like Orval Faubus would be replaced by a northerner with Wall Street money, that the racist Democrat, Justice Jim Johnson, would be put to rout by a civil rights activist who served on the national board of the Urban League and once even addressed the NAACP.

Nobdy thought this conceivable, probable, or even possible except the Arkansas voters, who were apparently quite ready, even eager, to put racial strife behind them, get an effective, problem-solving state government, and bring new, job-creating industries to a well-governed state in order to increase state revenue and reduce painfully disproportionate Negro unemployment.

There has been nothing quite like Winthrop Rockefeller in Arkansas in the memory of man, and certainly no one like him in southern politics.

And my guess is that the people of Arkansas did not have to become reconciled to W.R.; and, the more he has done during his first nine months, the more satisfied the voters have been showing themselves.

OPINION POLLS show W.R. more popular today than when he was inaugurated last January. And he has had his battles with a recalcitrant legislature in which there are only three Republicans out of 135 members.

But Winthrop has shown political toughness, learned how to appeal over their heads to the people, and is beginning to win reforms which at first seemed hopeless.

Reagan May Face Test By Nixon In Primary

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — As the Republican political pot bubbles in advance of the 1968 presidential nominating convention — nearly 10 months in advance, at that — many are being dazzled by the intoxicating anti-Lyndon Johnson vapors coming out of the pot but others are sniffing the pungent aromas of some questions.

This would concern a young Lochinvar coming out of the west. While no one has felt his sword, it's known that the steed of Gov. Ronald Reagan is the best. And there are rumors already that plans may be afoot to cut him off at the pass, if his pace continues.

Now east is east and west is west, etc., and seldom has anyone from the west been successful in the national political game.

BUT REAGAN is playing his non-candidate role so well that some people are becoming concerned. What looks like a possible deadlock between Richard M. Nixon, former vice president, and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, former candidate for President, could be the making of a nominee in 1968.

Reagan is a favorite son candidate to head a slate of delegates from California, and no one can prove otherwise. It would be foolish, of course, for Ragan to be anything else at this point. Not only would he subject himself to equal-time problems by an announcement, but it would destroy his image as the party peace-maker who just might wait in the wings in case of a convention deadlock.

Reagan's million-vote victory last November generally has been credited to (1) a desire of the people to have a change from Gov. Edmund G. Brown; (2) Reagan's charm and statements on his philosophy which met a sympathetic response, and (3) a unity among the Republicans.

Reagan said he was running as a favorite son to keep the Republicans unified. Quite wisely, he has said the party should avoid any more contests like the Goldwater-Rockefeller primary in 1964. One man has to win and, in cases like that, the losers go home and still are licking their wounds on election day.

So they theory of Reagan's favorite son candidate was to keep others out of California and avoid a fight.

BUT THERE ARE murmurings from the east that, if his non-candidacy continues to advance as it has, Reagan may be joined by another candidate in next June's primary election. This would be in the person of Nixon.

The obvious intent of a Nixon entry into the California primary would be to stop the Reagan drive. Nixon has been quoted as saying (and many others have agreed with him) that if he fares poorly in the early primaries next year this will limit, if not end, his chances for the nomination.

Nixon and Reagan doubtless would get many of their convention votes from the same people so a poor showing by Nixon in the early primaries might be offset by shunting Reagan aside in California.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Servicemen Here Need Support Too

Editor, Independent-Jurnal:

More and more frequently today, the opponents of war in Vietnam are countered with phrases to the effect of "support of our boys over there." It is truly doubtful that many do not support them. It is their reason for being there that is questioned.

That is not, however, my immediate point. It is very easy for some to sit in their comfortable homes, suffering nothing: no food shortage, no rationing, nothing except a threatened, but vigorously opposed, tax hike.

The cry "Support our boys over there" leaves a very important area of our support unfulfilled: our boys over here. As a special example we might take a look at Hamilton Air Force Base. How many of us think about the servicemen there? Rather, it seems, Marin is oblivious to their existence. For them, housing is a primary problem, both in quantity and cost. Will anyone take a little less rent for service people, or are we too busy making a buck from them because they're a captive audience?

And what about the serviceman's off-duty time? He or she is left 25 miles from the city with what do do? How often are they invited into our homes? Do we support the USO? Does anyone ever plan entertainment just for them, or are they good only for parades? What do we do for service people here?

Let us consider that question a little more seriously before we unconcernedly commit them to "there."

'Only Responsible Reporting In Area'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Just a letter to congratulate the Independent-Journal on what I consider the only responsible reporting that I have been able to read in the Bay Area.

I am specifically referring to your front page news stories of Monday, Oct. 23, regarding the hundreds and thousands that paraded and demonstrated in support of our fighting men in Viet Nam as contrasted to the relatively few that staged a violent demonstration on the Pentagon.

I do not normally take sides with these issues but I do think it's a sad commentary not only on a majority of our press, but also radio and TV in the Bay Area, that the people are not aware of the other side of the coin.

Council Not Rushing For Civic Center

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is possible to conclude, from your Oct. 25 report of the City of Sausalito Council meeting of the previous night, that the Sausalito Citizens Council asked that the city forthwith start planning a new civic center. This would be rushing things a bit.

Our letter asked that independent business economics consultants be engaged to make a comprehensive, impartial analysis of the pros and cons of a single site, conveniently located, for replacements for all of our various outmoded and inadequate city buildings.

For unexplained reasons the city has avoided any coordinated approach to this multiple problem. Our city manager last March revived this old but never-acted-on proposal. Nothing happened. We consider that the public interest would be better served by a realistic facing up to all civic building needs in one study.

Our combined city hall and library is under-size for both of these uses, its location has made it very valuable commercial property, as well as increasingly difficult to reach because of downtown tourist congestion. To remodel it for any efficient city use would be very expensive and would not solve its location drawbacks.

Our police department is housed in crowded rented quarters at a cost of over $3,000 per year. The fire department headquarters are bursting at the seams, with both equipment and personnel.

We aren't in favor of a monumental "civic center," but we think that it is time to examine a modest complex of efficient facilities of pleasing design, conveniently located and to be built in the order of greatest need.

That is why we asked for an independent study.

SCOTT IN AFRICA

Blacks Offered Freedom But Limited Opportunity

By PAUL SCOTT

PRETORIA, South Africa — South Africa's long-range approach to solving its racial problem is crystallizing much differently than most people outside this country realize.

Its controversial plan is designed to create eight semi-independent black nation-states, known as Bantustans, within the borders of the country.

The fantastic resettlement project, on which $700 million will be spent during the next five years, will drastically reshape the nature of South Africa. It also is necessitating creation of costly "border industries" to provide employment for the blacks living in the newly created minations.

That's the report Dr. C. J. Joost, the soft-speaking director of the South African Bureau of Racial Affairs, gives visitors to his office.

"Most whites here recognize the black man's right to freedom," he states. "But this freedom must come outside our political structure."

UNDER THE unprecedented plan Dr. Joost is trying to carry out for the Vorster government, the country's 13 million blacks will become citizens of the eight Bantustans carved out in the republic's territory. They will be permitted temporary employment in white areas and the new "border industries."

The rest of South Africa will be a white country in which black Africans will be permitted to work but denied political rights.

The Bantustan plan, according to backers, would attain ultimate goal of the apartheid policy — separate nations with separate freedoms within a framework of white and black states.

The separation-of-the-races experiment proposes to concentrate 70 per cent of South Africa's population in approximately 14 per cent of its territory.

THE BANTUSTAN blueprint also assumes that most able-bodied black Africans would immediately become migratory laborers, as is now the case with many of the 650,000 workers employed in the gold mining industry.

Many others would seek employment in the newly created "border industries." While many of the black Africans would be able to commute daily from their nation-states, others would have to be away from their settlements and families for weeks and months at a time.

In that respect, tens of thousands of the black Africans would be working like the Mexican wetbacks in the U.S. or as migratory workers in Western Europe.

To visitors, Dr. Joost shows off the Transkei Bantustan as an example of what will eventually happen in the seven other areas earmarked for the black Africans.

Transkei, where 2.5 million of South Africa's Xhosa tribesmen live, received some self-government in 1962. It has its own parliament, partly elected and partly appointed, a prime minister, and six ministers, each with a permanent white secretary.

Defense and foreign affairs of the Transkei will continue in South Africa's hands until, according to the plan, trained and experienced blacks can take over.

Control over their own education was recently turned over to the black Africans in Transkei. It has its own university — one of South Africa's four universities for black students.

Cuban Refugees Start Anew As Residents Of Marin County

One crisis yields to another in this uneasy world. While the headlines are no longer focusing on Cuba under the Castro regime, individuals who were victims of violent political upheaval in that country can never forget.

Two Cuban families who are now living on the Tiburon peninsula count themselves among the luckier refugees. After the crisis in 1962 many self-exiled Cubans arrived in Florida, where organizations such as the World Council of Churches took some responsibility for them. In April, 1962, St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Belvedere gladly "adopted" the family of Rafael Rodriques. Mr. Rodriques, a proud and well educated man, would accept only the minimum essentials for a new start in this country. Trained as an architect, he is now working in his profession. He and his family live quietly in a modest home in the Belveron Gardens district of Tiburon.

Mrs. Rodriques' sister and her husband and children arrived only two years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Marcelino Nogueiro, their daughter and son are living in the Hilarita housing project. The Nogueiros had owned a small rice processing plant and several farms in Cuba. Mr. Nogueiro's knowledge of food processing has enabled him to find employment at a plant in San Francisco. They, too, started over again with very little. The refugees could bring nothing with them except their clothing.

Hospitable Marin has given the Cubans all that they asked — a chance for a new start.

ONE FLAW in this otherwise happy story was pointed out to us by Mrs. W. W. Bloom of Mill Valley, a friend of the Cuban families. A few local children have been teasing the youngsters "because they don't speak English very well . . . then the taunts turned to rock throwing."

Perhaps to young Americans, the events of five years ago in Cuba are as remote as the Civil War, which has also left a bitter heritage.

Mrs. Bloom suggests that the obsession of youth with the need to conform may be at the root of the unpleasant incidents. "If these children and their parents only realized how much these people wanted to come to our country!" Mrs. Bloom said, wistfully.

THE SILENT AUCTION organized by James Derryberry of Tiburon and held last Saturday at Reed School cleared $1,900 for the Boys' Club of Southern Marin. Nucleus of the auction were the household goods of Mr and Mrs. John Lawson of Belvedere, who donated their possessions to be used for this benefit when they made a permanent move to Peru.

ART BUCHWALD

Poor Marines Without Pinups May Forget What Girls Look Like

WASHINGTON — The bleak news out of Da Nang, South Vietnam, last week was that the United States Marine Corps was trying to discourage pin-ups in U.S. Marine Corps quarters. The campaign was launched when commanding generals at Da Nang informed their officers that the Marine Corps does not approve of pin-ups. It was followed up by a Marine Corps chaplain's sermon warning about the evils of pin-ups. particularly the young ladies whose forms fold out of Playboy magazine.

As a former Marine I was shocked, hurt and bewildered by the Marin Corps attitude toward pin-ups. Through the years from Montezuma to Tripoli, young marines have not only been inspired by the pin-ups they carried in their footlockers, but they also served as a reminder of what they were fighting for.

THE MARINE CORPS tends to send marines to places where the only females they see from one year to the next are the ones pinned to the walls of their tents. If it weren't for the pin-ups it is doubtful that a marine would be able to return to normal society and behave like a human being.

I recall during World War II walking into a friend's tent at Eniwetok in the Marshall Islands and seeing a photo pasted in a friend's footlocker. I had been on the island for 14 months, but this was the first time I had seen the picture.

"What's that?" I asked my friend.

"It's a girl," he replied.

"What's a girl?" I demanded.

"Well, it's like a man only it's different."

"I CAN SEE THAT, stupid," I said. "What's it do?"

"Well, it talks a great deal and it has babies and wears a lot of silly clothes."

"But that one isn't wearing any clothes," I pointed out.

"I know. That's why it's a pin-up. If it had a lot of clothes I wouldn't want to look at it."

"Why not?"

"Because you wouldn't be able to see anything if it had clothes on."

"WHAT DO YOU WANT to see?"

"Well, if I couldn't look at it with no clothes on I wouldn't know it was different from us. And if I didn't think there was something back in the States different from us I'd shoot myself here and now."

"It looks funny," I said.

"That's because you've been out here too long. Haven't you ever heard of girls before?"

"I think I heard the fellows talking about them the other night. But I couldn't make head or tail of what they were saying. Some nut said you're supposed to hold them in your arms, and another crackpot said you're supposed to kiss them. Doesn't that beat all?" I laughed.

"That's exactly what you're supposed to do with them. They get awfully mad if you don't."

"Well, I'll be damned," I said. "I thought they were kidding me."

"YOU CAN'T BE out here that long," my friend said. "Surely you remember girls from the States?"

"I think I do, vaguely. They're softer, aren't they?"

"Much softer."

"Let me look at it again," I said. "Maybe it will all come back."

I studied the picture for months, and by the time I returned to the United States I knew exactly what a girl looked like. It certainly helped me when I started up my social life again.

There are probably thousands of men at Da Nang who are now in the same spot I was in at Eniwetok and without pin-ups to show them what girls look like. I'd hate to think how they'll behave when they come home.

Mrs. Kennedy Begins Tour Of Fabled Bangkok

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Looking fresh and cool in white, Mrs. John F. Kennedy stepped from an Italian airliner today into Bangkok's 100-degree noonday heat and kissed the cheek of Washington newsman Charles Bartlett.

Mrs. Kennedy and Lord Harlech, the widowed former British ambassador to Washington, arrived from Rome to join Bartlett, a columnist for the Chicago Sun-Times, his wife, and Michael Forrestal, son of the late U.S. secretary of defense, for a trip to Cambodia and the ruins of Angkor Wat.

Although Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, broke relations with the United States in March 1965 and has repeatedly accused U.S. forces in Vietnam of violating his frontier, a U.S. Air Force plane will take Mrs. Kennedy and her party to Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital tomorrow.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Test In Name Of Integration Backfires In New York City

Some rather odd experiments have been tried in California public schools in the name of integration, but none to match one last month in New York City.

Eight schools on Manhattan's West Side this year are included in a "balanced class project," for which extra funds are provided by the State of New York. In these schools, pupils of different races are placed in the same classes on ratios which someone dreamed up as "optimum" for integration.

IN PROVIDING $43,000 of state aid, the state wanted some information about how the scheme worked out. The New York City Schools devised an attitude test to be given at the start of the year and again near the end, which somebody hoped would show the state that it is getting its money's worth. Arthur L. Block, project director, said the test was called an "ethnic distance scale."

That's where the fun began.

The test, which was given in four of the eight schools, consisted of 18 little stories, each with a "villain" or "hero." The child was to mark whether he thought the "villain" or "hero" was white, Negro, or "Spanish-speaking. (Maybe Puerto Rican is some kind of naughty word in the New York schools?)

The New York Times quoted this as a typical test story:

"ONE DAY the teacher said, 'I have to go out of the room for a few minutes. If everyone is very good while I am gone, we will have a surprise when I come back.'

"When the teacher came back, everyone was working very quietly and good. Everyone except one child. That child was running around the room and shouting. The teacher said: 'Well, I'm very sorry. Now we cannot have our surprise.'"

The pupil was to mark whether he thought the child who "spoiled the surprise" was white, Negro, or "Spanish-speaking."

The test was given in the four schools on Tuesday. And on Wednesday, more than 40 parents, nearly all Negroes and Puerto Ricans, staged a sit-in at the office of Nathan Jacobson, assistant superintendent for the West Side Manhattan district, demanding no more such tests be given. They claimed the test was racist.

THEY WERE right.

The sit-in got results. Jacobson cancelled further tests.

He was unhappy about it, though. He said "another wedge has been driven between the community and the teaching professionals."

New York has had more than its share of trouble with integration. In Harlem last year, parents refused to send their children to a brand-new school because it had a white principal. They have picketed schools over the assignment of teachers. And — as in many other places — they have strenuously objected to having their children bussed to far-away schools for the sake of integration.

Integration by mathematical formula is not working too well in some other places, either.

OKLAHOMA CITY schools are under U.S. Supreme Court order to allow pupils who are in the racial majority at their school to transfer to any school in the system where their race is in a minority.

However, when schools opened, only 60 of the 76,000 Oklahoma City pupils had requested such transfer.

Last year in Marin County, an inter-district integration program was adopted by Mill Valley and Sausalito school districts to permit white pupils from Mill Valley to transfer to a predominantly Negro school in Sausalito, and vice versa. Quite a campaign was put on for it. Enough white transfers to equal two classes were obtained; but the difficulty came in getting Negro transfers.

A possible explanation may be found in remarks at a recent meeting of the Negro Teachers Association of New York.

HERBERT OTTLEY of Youth in Action, an anti-poverty organization, told the gathering: "The Negro student doesn't have to sit next to a white student to learn. Negroes can learn with Negroes."

Another speaker, Dr. Alvin Poussaint of Tufts Medical College, said: "There is no reason why we should have to join the white community to achieve our goals in education."

A majority of the speakers agreed with these views, according to the New York Times.

It just may be that integration has very little to do with matching members of black and white students in the classroom.

Cuban Embassy Employees Out

OTTAWA (AP) — The former chief of Canada's Social Credit party reports that at least four Cuban Embassy employees have been expelled for subversive activities, including the sale of arms and ammunition to Quebec separatists.

Robert Thompson, in an open letter to Foreign Minister Paul Martin, said the activities also included distribution to university students of a handbook on guerrilla warfare by Che Guevara, the revolutionist recently slain in Bolivia.

Thompson said yesterday he believed the expulsions occurred some time ago, but a spokesman for the Foreign Ministry said he could not confirm this.

Part-Time Staff Raise On Agenda

Trustees of the College of Marin tomorrow will consider raising the salary of part-time, evening and summer faculty by $1 an hour.

The cost, if made retroactive for summer work, has been estimated at $36,000. The proposal was first made last spring.

Also on the agenda for the meeting at 8 p.m. in Room G-1 of the physical education building is consideration of the Army Corps of Engineers plans for flood control work in the area of the college.

Innocent Plea In Wife Killing

SAN JOSE (AP) — Warren Harding Goodwin, 46, Los Gatos sports car body builder, pleaded innocent yesterday to charges of killing his wife and shooting at her boy friend.

Superior Court Judge Joseph P. Kelley set Jan. 8 for a jury trial.

Goodwin was indicted on charges of manslaughter, assault with a deadly weapon and being a felon in possession of a firearm.

He was accused of killing his wife, Jamaica, 28, in their Los Gatos hilltop home Sept. 13 after he allegedly found her in a tryst with Thor Kidoo, 30, a guest in their home.

Goodwin is vice president of Fiberfab-Velocidad Motor Body Co., of Santa Clara. His wife was president.

$90,000 Promissory Note Set To Trial

A $90,000 promissory note suit filed in San Mateo Superior Court yesterday was transferred for trial in Marin Superior Court.

The complaint by Allied Grocers of California, Ltd., of San Francisco, claims William Rakestraw of Rakestraw's Loch Lomond Market, 688 Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael, defaulted on a note he signed for $90,000 June 6, 1966.

Defunct Bank Payments To Stockholders

The defunct Tiburon National Bank has made its first liquidation distribution to stockholders at the rate of $2.50 per share.

W. O. Weissich, chairman of the liquidating committeee, said funds of $140,000 have been collected on outstanding loans since the bank was placed on voluntary liquidation last May. At that time it was estimated stockholders might collect 80 per cent of their investments of $20 per share within a year.

Tiburon National, which has been succeeded by Sierra National Bank, no longed functions as a bank but continues as a corporation.

In his recent report to shareholders Weissich said the actual liquidating value of shares depends upon the committee's success in collecting loans still held. Total assets to be converted into cash and distributed to shareholders were previously reported as consisting of $978,723 in loans plus other loans of $86,693 (now claimed by Sierra National and the subject of litigation between the two banks), and a $250,000 life insurance policy with a current cash value of $11,750.

Weissich said the date and amount of the next distribution are uncertain.

Mobilization On Urban Problems

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five higher education institutions in San Francisco are mobilizing for an effort to solve urban problems.

Articles of incorporation for a consortium have been forwarded to the secretary of state.

The immediate goal of the new move is to "serve as a link between college and community. The organization hopes to operate as an action center, a clearing house and a resource banks for groups working in urban design, environmental health, the delivery of social and health and manpower training.

Participating are San Francisco State College, University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, City College of San Francisco, Golden Gate College and University of San Francisco.

RETURNED IN PROTEST—James C. Child, a student at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, checks over the letter accompanying the Air Medal he returned to the government as a protest against United States involvement in Vietnam. He got the medal for flying missions over South Vietnam. (Independent-Journal photo)

SEMINARIAN'S WAR PROTEST

Vietnam Flying Veteran Returns His Air Medal

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

A 29-year-old former Navy lieutenant with 17 air missions against Viet Cong strongholds to his credit has turned in his Air Medal as a protest against further United States involvement in Vietnam.

James Clark Child, now a second-year student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, has mailed back the medal to Washington together with a letter to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara detailing his reasons.

He said it was being returned as a protest against continued U.S. intervention and escalation and "simply because the medal means little to me, was awarded for something of which I am less than proud, and I can no longer bear to keep silent company with the others who have earned it.

"I have given this subject long and careful thought, and I feel that, as a Christian, this is the only meaningful course of action open to me. I remain a loyal American.

"My friends and the Vietnamese are dying daily for ideologies and under leaders who do not in the least comprehend the extent of the folly, suffering, and anguish that is Vietnam."

In his room at the seminary yesterday, tall, dark-haired Child spoke of the mental anguish which led him to make this move.

"For a long time I have been torn between loyalty to America and my heritage and the need to speak out in protest," he said. "My motives are religious. I feel strongly that war is the most terrible thing in modern society. There is nothing Christian about it."

He denied, however, that he was a pacifist. "I do not oppose violence because in some cases I believe that violence is the better of two evils. If the issues are clear cut, I think that sometimes there is no alternative." In Vietnam, the issues are not clear cut, he added.

On one wall of his room he has pasted pictures of jet aircraft. "I guess I just like flying planes," he said with a smile.

He spent 12 months in Vietnam flying A-4C skyhawk attack aircraft from the carriers Constellation and Ranger. The missions he flew were over South Vietnam.

He was given an honorable discharge from the Navy 18 months ago after serving five years.

Did he have any qualms about his actions then? "I had misgivings but I was not ridden by a guilt complex. It might have been better if I had," he said.

Questioned about his Navy service, Child spoke frankly concerning the final few months. He said that shortly after his commanding officer became aware of his feelings about the war, he found himself transferred stateside to carry out a non-combatant role for the final five months before discharge.

"In those few months I was a man filled with anxiety as to what was to happen to me. I was worried too that my fellow pilots would misinterpret my feelings as cowardice," he said.

However, the climate has changed since that time. He pointed out he believed many officers and men now were experiencing "a painful conflict" between loyalty to the nation and to their consciences.

"Ultimate loyalty must always be decided by the conscience alone," he declared. However strongly this may sound, he said it was not meant as an invitation to anarchy among members of the armed forces.

Since leaving active service, he had tried to join the Naval Reserves as required by his contract. But officers advised him "it would better not to" and they cut through the red tape to give him an honorable discharge.

He was spending last summer in his native Nebraska when it occured to him to turn in his Air Medal.

"It is quite a common medal although there is competition for it among the flyers," said Child, as he closed up his room to attend glee club rehearsals in a hall below.

He said he wished it were a Distinguished Flying Cross or even a Medal of Honor being returned.

"I don't know what they will do when they receive the medal. Perhaps it will be sent back, perhaps not. It doesn't really matter."

Mayor Slates Week For Viet Candylift

Mayor C. Paul Bettini has proclaimed tomorrow through Nov. 8 "Christmas Candy for Our Troops in Vietnam Week" in support of a project begun by the junior class at San Rafael High School.

For every three boxes of candy the students sell the next week, a candy firm has agreed to send two boxes to American troops in Vietnam as Christmas presents. Each box sent will bear a personal message from class members.

"Gosh sakes, is it November already?"

Bales, Hospital Argue Blood Tests

District Atty. Bruce B. Bales, citing the need for evidence, last night challenged the Marin Hospital District's policy on blood alcohol tests for drunken driving suspects.

Board members indicated they would be willing to change the policy if the district could be "held harmless" from any liability that might result.

Bales charged that Marin General Hospital refused to take blood alcohol tests in two cases in September, one involving a fatal accident and the other involving serious injury.

"Without this evidence, I can't prosecute," he said.

The hospital's policy has been not to make such tests without the patient's consent.

Dr. John Manwaring, pathologist, said in one case "the man refused," and in the other case "the man was unconscious."

Directors agreed that tests should be given in cases where the driver gives "witnessed verbal consent."

Mrs. Marion Ibach, board president, said, "We should do all we can to support law enforcement if possible." She suggested that the county pursue the idea of indemnifying the district in the event of a law suit.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino said the county would be reluctant to grant indemnification because it could involve expending county funds for the district.

Dr. Gwendolyn M. Campion, a director, replied that the hospital district would have to finance any legal defense fees from patient revenue.

Directors George E. Croke said the board "has the obligation to protect the hospital; you're asking us to take the risk for a function not normally undertaken."

Ray K. Bolinger, hospital administrator, noted that Marin General Hospital is one of only a few facing the problem, since elsewhere the blood alcohol tests are taken at county hospitals.

'NO POLICE FUNCTION'

Atty. Harold F. Reade, representing the hospital, said the hospital "is not a law enforcement agency," and has "no police function" under its powers and duties as a district hospital.

Godino contended that the risk involved was minimal, and Bales said the "implied consent" law passed last year on blood alcohol tests provides immunity for personnel involved.

Riede contended that the immunity "doesn't extend to cover the hospital, the board or the administrator."

Bales pointed out that under the "implied consent" law drivers have agreed, by reason of driving, to either take blood alcohol tests at police request or have their licenses suspended.

Bales contended that a blood alcohol test could be taken when a driver is unconscious. These are the most severe cases, "the ones that should be prosecuted," he said.

NO CHOICE

Riede said he has advised against taking blood from unconscious patients, because an unconscious person doesn't have a chance to make the choice offered by the law, the test or license suspension.

Bales said "it seems strange" that blood alcohol tests are not taken at the hospital, when they could be taken at the county jail or at the scene of an accident.

Victim Of Shooting Links Assailants To Superspade

Sheriff's officers today said a man critically shot in Sonoma County has indicated his assailants are the ones who murdered big-time drug peddler William E. (Superspade) Thomas.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson also said San Francisco police have arrested two men and a woman for questioning in the Sonoma assault, the shooting of Russell O. Williams, 26.

Williams, of San Francisco, staggered from a heavily wooded area of Sonoma County on Monday, telling police a bizarre story of being kidnaped in the Haight-Ashbury district 10 days ago, being shot, and left to die in the woods.

The victim, who suffered two abdominal wounds, was admitted at Sonoma County Hospital in critical condition. Stinson said although his officers planned wo wait until today to talk further with Williams, they learned last night his condition was worsening.

He and Sheriff's Inspector Kenneth Irving, who talked briefly with Williams Monday evening, joined San Francisco police inspectors Gus Cureris and John Fortinas and hastened to the hospital last night.

Stinson said because Williams could only respond with "yes and no" answers, and with nods and shaking his head, the questioning results were not conclusive.

He added however that Williams "indicated to us that there may be some involvment with Superspade (the murder) on the part of the poeple who did him in."

Stinson said Williams "was in bad shape and we just couldn't get anything (else) out of him." He said he hopes to talk "quite extensivley" with Williams if the victim's condition improves.

He also said San Francisco police have the trio in custody, but he could identify them at present only as a man called "Lucky," another named "Danny," and a woman.

He said it is not known if the three have any Marin connection, but he intends to talk with the trio after San Francisco police have quizzed them.

Superspade's body, shot and trussed in a sleeping bag, was found Aug. 6 at bottom of a cliff at Point Reyes. It has not been established whether he was slain in Marin.

Sonoma authorities said Williams was unable to tell police where his shooting had taken place or how he survived the 10-day ordeal.

Stafford Lake Recreational Facilities Suffer Setback

Development of recreational facilities at Stafford Lake in Novato and acquisition of the China Camp area as a public park suffered a setback today, with state rejection of funds for these projects.

Pierre W. Joske, director of parks and recreation for Marin, disclosed he had just received the word in a letter from William Penn Mott Jr., state director of parks and recreation.

"I regret to inform you that your projects, Stafford Lake development, China Camp acquisition, and Dipsea Trail acquisition, have not been included in the land and water conservation fund program this year," Mott wrote. The land and water conservation fund program is a federal program which is approved by the state.

Joske said Marin had applied for $442,250 for acquisition of about 100 acres of the China Camp area in East San Rafael, $100,000 for development at Stafford Lake so that it could be opened for public use, and about $5,000 for acquisition of scattered parcels of land for the Dipsea Trail.

Mott gave this reason for his rejection of Marin's request:

The San Francisco Bay Area has received more funds since the commencement of the program in proportion to projected recreational demands than have other major metropolitan areas in the state. "I have made the decision in order to 'balance the books' during the 1968-69 fiscal year so that in the future there can be an equitable statewide distribution," Mott said.

"The one that I was really hoping for was China Camp," said Joske. "This will certainly delay acquisition of meaningful bay front property." Joske said that at Stafford Lake, he had hoped for facilities such as parking areas and picnic facilities by the summer of 1969, but this will now be delayed.

Ghiringhelli Statement Is Explained

Mrs. Antionette Ghiringhelli of Fairfax told the Independent-Journal today that a sharp verbal exchange between her and Planning Commissioner Leo Cronin after the commission meeting Monday should not be interpreted as a reflection by her on the Cronin family.

The exchange reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal, Mrs. Ghiringhelli said, did not include her statement to Cronin that she had known and loved his family for a great many years. This, Mrs. Ghiringhelli said, was the meaning of her remark to Cronin: "I know all about your family."

The doorway exchange followed a bitter argument between Mrs. Ghiringhelli and City Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni at the meeting.

Visitor Loses Wallet At Center

A visitor from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has reported to San Rafael police the loss of her wallet Sunday night outside the Kettle Restaurant in the Montecito Shopping Center.

The visitor, Genevieve Ronca, a correspondent for the Fort Lauderdale News, said she hoped the finder would return it to her at 32 Valley Circle, Mill Valley, where she will be staying for another two weeks, rather than to the Florida address on her driver's license and credit cards.

Battery Stolen

Robert Beal of 215 Bayview Drive, San Rafael, reported early today the battery had been stolen from his car parked outside the Safeway grocery in Mill Valley.

Dope Arrests By Novato Police

Novato police, out on their Halloween patrols, made two marijuana arrests of young people last night.

Officers said they stopped a southbound car on U.S. 101 and found a quantity of what appeared to be marijuana.

Booked on suspicion of marijuana possession and later released on their own recognizance, were Sidney E. Eschenback, 19, and Leslie J. Cordoza, 18, both of Sebastopol, and David R. Shapiro, 21, of Rohnert Park.

Three girls, all 15, were stopped in the 1800 block of Marion Avenue, and cited to Juvenile Hall for suspicion of possession of marijuana.

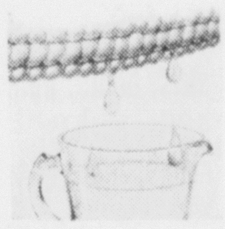
Belvedere Resident Missing From Home

Norman Dechauron, 31, of 244 Bay View Avenue, Belvedere, has been missing from his home since yesterday morning, his wife reported last night to Belvedere police.

Police issued an all points bulleting for Dechauron, described as five-feet, seven-inches tall, weighing 145 pounds, with crew cut brown hair and brown eyes. When last seen he was wearing a black blazer and gray slacks.

Teen Club Talks

First meeting of a committee of teen-agers and adults who are investigating possibility of a teen club in San Anselmo will be today at 7:30 p.m. in San Anselmo City Hall. The group was appointed by the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission.



"You take the trouble to cook good foods, healthy foods, so your family will eat right... but if nobody enjoys it, where's the pleasure? That's why the only margarine for my family is Fleischmann's. It's made from 100% golden corn oil. And that means it's good for my whole family... so low in saturated fat. And it tastes good. On toast, mashed potatoes... doesn't matter. Hospital Board Backs Staff On Legal Costs

Marin Hospital District directors last night agreed to finance the legal defense of staff members named in a recent $5 million suit, if their insurance coverage does not.

Directors adopted a policy that they would financially back, if insurance companies don't, the legal defense of staff members who pass on qualifications and credentials.

The policy was formed as the board considered a 15 million suit by Dr. Henry Chaker, former Novato pediatrician, asserting that Marin physicians and hospital officials blocked his right to practice.

Among the defendants were members of the Marin General Hospital staff.

Harold F. Riede, attorney for the district, recommended that the district "assure doctors who serve, that if sued, the district will back them up."

Otherwise doctors would be reluctant to serve on a credentials committee, and without a credential committee and "you lose accreditation," he said.

The board also decided to provide legal defense funds, if necessary, to back Dr. Edward E. Shev, who appeared for the district in the hearings, which resulted in Dr. Stanford W. Aschermann being denied admittance to the hospital staff.

Dr. Aschermann has charged Dr. Shev with giving false testimony and a hearing is scheduled before the San Francisco Medical Society.

The Marin Hospital District Board Also:

PATIENT LOAD — Received a report that the medical-surgical patient load is running ahead of last year, beyond the expected load during the past few months and approaching capacity.

ADDITIONAL FILL — Approved expenditure for additional fill at the Bon Air realignment project and related expenses, estimated to cost $2,400.

NEWSPAPER OFFER — Accepted a proposal from the Mill Valley Record to make the hospital beneficiary of a respirator as the result of a circulation campaign by the newspaper. The vote was 3-1 with Irving D. Chapman dissenting, and George E. Croke, who was present earlier, absent. Chapman objected to the hospital lending its name "to this kind of activity."

VOLUNTEERS BUDGET — Approved the Hospital Volunteers budget for 1967-68, totaling $23,160, with $19,170 contributed to the hospital and $2,325 to scholarships, and $1,665 for administration.

CHANGE ORDERS — Approved change orders for the Community Mental Health Center, one a credit for $161, three additional costs: $244 for bathroom and toilet accessories, $3,381 for additional fire control and detector devices, and additional sprinkler heads for fire protection at $1,502, and an 18-day extension of the deadline because of warehousemen's strikes, making the completion target, Sept. 20, 1968.

ART EXHIBITS — Received a cordinator of volunteer services, that plans are underway to display art in hallways, with volunteers receiving a 15 per cent cut from any sales.

FLOWER STAND — Delayed a decision on a proposal by the volunteers to install a cut flower case at the hospital, to be serviced by local florists, with volunteers to get a cut from the proceeds.

X-RAY EQUIPMENT — Authorized calling for bids immediately X-ray equipment, estimated to cost $10,000, and for bids on X-ray equipment, estimated to cost $25,000, as soon as funds are available.

PAY BOOST — Granted Lawrence B. Malkin, assistant administrator, a 10 per cent pay boost from $12,000 to $13,200 a year, effective Nov. 19.

NEXT MEETING — Scheduled its next meeting for Nov. 28 at the Coral Room in the hospital.

New Mayor Is A Republican

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Birmingham voters have elected a Republican mayor in a legally nonpartisan race.

No party labels were allowed on the ballot yesterday but a breakdown of vote totals showed 54-year-old George Seibels scored heavily in traditional upper income, white collar areas where Republicans have their greatest strength in Birmingham.

The councilman outdrew his Democratic opponent, George Young, 27,709 votes to 25,338 in a race which drew less than half of Birmingham's 122,000 voters out into a steady autumn drizzle.

Utility Costs In Big Cities

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Public Utilities Commission says San Franciscans pay less for utilities than residents of any of the nation's 25 largest cities.

The monthly average is $15.35 for 70 therms of gas, 250 kilowatt hours of electricity and individual-line residential service.

Second and third in the PUC survey were Los Angeles with $16.24 a month and San Diego with $19.41.

Highest on the list was Boston with $30.72, followed by New York with $28.35.

Supervisor Is Called A Racist

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A member of the Western Addition Community Organization has charged that San Francisco Supervisor Terry Francois, a Negro, is a "racist."

The alleged victims were two white ministers who are helping WACO in its fight against the Redevelopment Agency's policies in the Western Addition renewal area.

Francois has accused Rev. David Hawbecker and Rev. Thomas Dietrich, both Presbyterians, of "manipulating" the Negroes in the Western Addition.

"If that's not a racist accusation I don't know what it is," said Mrs. Mary Rogers, chairman of WACO's tenants committee.

Ban On Buying Auto Begins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — No automobiles will be purchased by Los Angeles County agencies starting today.

County supervisors said the moratorium will remain until an amendment by Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., is removed from air-pollution legislation pending in Congress.

Dingell's proposal would prohibit states from setting their own automotive exhaust control standards, leaving this prerogative to federal authorities.

An earlier amendment by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., would have permitted a state to set a standard higher than the federal standard.

The supervisors adopted the measure unanimously yesterday and asked the public also to boycott the automobile industry by delaying new car purchases.

$350,000 Award In Injury Case

HONOLULU (AP)—A $350,000 out-of-court settlement has been reached in favor of a 30-year-old San Francisco workman who lost both arms seven years ago in an industrial accident.

Peter Berkness, represented by San Francisco attorney Melvin Belli, was injured when a metal pole and electric jack he was working with touched a 21,000-volt wire.

The settlement was reached Monday with Hawaiian Electric Co., where Berkness worked.

CAREFUL PEEK AT PRISON

'Dry Cleaned' Quentin Tour Popular

By DON BRANNING

Elks clubs, church groups and other representatives of the good life outside the walls are given a carefully ordered peep at life within San Quentin in Saturday night tours arranged by the prison officials.

For most of the tourists it is their first look at life inside a prison. Such is the interest among eligible groups that the waiting time to take one of the tours, held two Saturdays a month, is as long as three years.

Last Saturday's tour for 243 persons included groups from the First Baptist Church of Ukiah, Albany Methodist Church, Mariner Cove Improvement Association, San Mateo Elks Lodge and Norton Company Social Club.

Stamped on the left hand with an ink that will glow in ultraviolet light at an exit check point, the visitors have a look at the gas chamber and a couple of the prison's industrial facilities. They pay $2.50 a head to have dinner in the prison dining hall and see a variety show put on by the inmates.

"What they see," said Associate Warden James W. L. Park, "is our better class of inmate, such as those who perform in the show and sell items in the handicraft shop."

The movements of the touring group within the prison walls are carefully timed so that it will not meet large groups of prisoners leaving the movies or educational classes. "One of the reasons for that," said Park, "is that we would not want one of our lads to join the tour."

The members of The Westerners country music band, the young man who sings a tenor solo of "Come Back To Sorrento" and the Italian from Brooklyn who is the prison show's standup comedian are, of course, among the more gregarious of the inmates.

"One very common reaction," said Park, "is how do such nice, talented young fellows find themselves in prison."

Most of the visitors probably do not realize that the tour has been dry cleaned to avoid unpleasantry. It does not go through any of the disciplinary quarters, because some of the inmates in those cells might hurl colorful language at the tourists.

Except for the white jacketed inmates who serve their dinner and the men in the vaudeville, who do not wear prison clothes, the visitors never see a large group of prisoners.

So carefully insulated from the daily prison life is the tour that the strongest impression left with Mr. and Mrs. George Challand, of the Ukiah First Baptist Church, was the quality of the entertainment.

"I had no idea they had that much talent in the prison," said Mrs. Challand. "I think it's fine that they build up the confidence of the young men that way so that they can get ready for the outside."

Park occasionally leads the tours, and at dinner in the prison dining hall, he supplies the visitors with a few facts of prison life.

"This is one of 12 prisons supported by your tax money," he says. "We have 3,700 inmates here, there are 27,000 in California prisons. San Quentin gets the longer term people and some of the more difficult. We have our problems here from time to time, because some of our clients are not as happy as we would like them to be.

"It costs $2000 a year to keep a man here, and we are one of the cheaper prisons. Crime is your problem, not ours. We are taking care of these 3,700 men. We hope to improve their attitudes, teach them a skill, so that they can go back to the community.

"Our recidivism rate is 50 per cent. With murderers, we are 95 per cent successful in the rate of return. With alcoholic check writers, we have a 95 per cent failure rate.

"You must remember that a mental hospital can take a man who is crazy as a loon. With the new drugs, they can send him back to the world only a little goofy. We can't do that. We can't make a little thief out of a big thief. If a man goes out of here and is caught, oh, stealing one carton of cigarettes, back he comes."

Jail Sentence Is Suspended In Wild Chase Spree

A 46-year-old San Rafael woman arrested in a wild chase by four police cars April 19 was given a five-day suspended county jail term yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Hadden W. Roth also gave the motorist, Lorraine Gunnar, a $230 fine and placed her on a year's probation. Mrs. Gunnar, of 31 Manzanita Avenue, was convicted Sept. 5 of reckless driving.

She was acquitted of a second charge, hit-run involving a collision with one of the police cars involved in the Highway 101 chase by sheriff's deputies attempting to arrest her on an out-of-county warrant for theft.

Riding with Mrs. Gunnar were her five dogs. The animals were taken to Marin County Humane Society, then recovered by Mrs. Gunnar after her release from county jail on bail.

Arraignment In Burglary Charge

Melvin Razo, 22, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony burglary charge. Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon.

Razo, of Berkeley, is accused of burgling the home of Maurice J. Flantzman, 81 Crecienta Drive, Sausalito, on Monday. Police said they saw him flee the house, leap into a car, and speed away. A chase resulted in his arrest.

Officers said the Flantzman house was entered by kicking a front door open. A large jar of coins and stereophonic equipment were found abandoned near the door, they added.

Guilty Verdict In Disturbance

A Marin Municipal Court jury yesterday convicted Doris Mae Grace of Sausalito of disturbing the peace last July 25.

Judgment by Judge Hadden W. Roth was scheduled for Tuesday. Mrs. Grace, of 10 Alexander Avenue, was accused of noisy and offensive conduct when a San Francisco State College student, Robert Dinelli, and his date parked in a lot near Mrs. Grace's home to seek the address of friends.

Dinelli, of 99 Cloud View Road, Sausalito, told police Mrs. Grace drove in behind him and began berating him.

Vandals Smash Town's Windows

WINDSOR (Sonoma County) (UPI) — Vandals broke just about every window in Windsor's downtown area last night.

This included the post office, bank, many stores and lodges.

"This place is a mess. There must be $3,000 worth of glass lying around," said one businessman.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Headaches Common For Those Who Are Under Stress, Tired

VAN DELLEN

Headaches are common among persons who are emotionally disturbed under stress, tired, allergic or addicted to alcohol and tobacco. We have long believed that nervous impulses produce painful spasm of the blood vessels of the brain or the muscles of the scalp and neck.

A number of years ago Dr. Raymond L. Hilsinger of Cincinnati compiled a list of common sense precepts which he recommended to his emotional patients who complained of headache. It would be difficult to improve on them.

APPROVE of yourself. You are as good as the next fellow. If you are given a compliment, take it and make use of it.

Do not be a slave to the clock. Work at your own pace. Trying to meet too many deadlines only creates tension.

Tolerance makes understanding of the other fellow easier.

This is not a perfect world. Perfection is rarely attained, so be satisfied with less.

Speak up if you want to. You cannot please everybody. Honesty and directness break down barriers and make friendships easier.

BE EFFICIENT, yes, but not to the extent that perfection becomes a burden.

You cannot please everybody, so stop trying.

McCormick Basking In Glory

MOUNTAIN VIEW (AP) — Lefty Mike McCormick, baseball's Comeback Player of the Year, is the happy winner of the Cy Young Award as the National League's outstanding pitcher of 1967.

"I think this is the realization of every pitcher's dream," Mike exclaimed at his home in Mountain View, some 40 miles south of Candlestick Park, where he performs his heroics for the San Francisco Giants.

"It certainly is the cake-icing of my playing year.

"In all honesty, my family and I are very elated.

"It's the highest award a pitcher can get. There's not much more I can say."

The award was voted yesterday by the Baseball Writers Association of America, and McCormick got 18 of the 20 votes cast by the writers—two from each league city. Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs and Jim Bunning of the Philadelphia Phillies got one vote each.

McCormick's magnificent 22-10 record was tops in the league and led the Giants to a strong second-place finish in the pennant race.

At the age of 29, and once considered washed up, he pitched 14 complete games, worked 262 innings, and had an earned-run average of 2.85.

Two weeks ago he was named the league's Comeback Player of the Year in the annual Associted Press Poll of witers and broadcasters.

The heaping of honors felt good to the veteran who had been signed by the Giants in 1956 at the age of 18, then fell upon hard times and was waived down to the minors in 1964.

The Giants got him back in a winter deal with Washington of the American League.

McCormick had come West with the Giants in 1958 and has made his home in the Bay Area ever since, despite his baseball travels, ups and downs.

His decline began in 1962, when he developed a sore arm and was traded to Baltimore, and continued down to Rochester in 1964.

Back in the majors with Washington in 1965, he had a weak 11-14 season in 1966 and was dealt off to San Francisco.

McCormick explains his comeback this way:

"Because of my sore arm, I learned to pitch, not throw. On given days I believe I'm as fast as I ever was."

This year for the first time a Cy Young Award will be made for both the National and American Leagues, with the American Leaguer to be named in a few days.

Marin-Shasta Game: Boxer Vs. Puncher

BIG GAME — It's a natural. A boxer versus a puncher. It's Billy Conn vs. Joe Louis in grid togs.

I'm referring to College of Marin's vital Golden Valley Conference football battle with Shasta College Saturday night at Redding. A cruel schedule deprives local fans of such a treat.

Shasta, with a 4-0 conference won-lost record and 5-1 overall, rates as the "puncher" with power and brawn.

Marin, 3-0 in conference, 5-1 overall and riding the momentum of a five-game winning streak, is the boxer. Good footwork and speed.

Possible Kentfield Title Game

The Shasta-Marin game winner probably will capture the GVC championship and with it a berth in the state's small junior college division northern semi-finals against the winner of the Coast Conference on Thanksgiving weekend. Then, the winner of that game will advance to the state finals against Southern California's representative. The state finals are scheduled at the Northern school, so local fans are keeping their fingers crossed for a Dec. 1 or 2 game at Kentfield.

"No doubt, this is our big game," said Marin Coach Dick Read yesterday as he prepped his troops for the meeting with Shasta. "Fortunately, we'll be at near peak physical strength. Defensive halfbacks Joe Cunningham and Len Pieri, who missed last week's game, will return to the starting lineup. Two others who missed last week, defensive end Rob Prosch and fullback Dick Otis, have sufficiently recovered from injuries to join us at least part-time, although they won't start."

Big, Powerful Running Backs

Read rates Shasta ". . . a good, tough, big club that can do a lot of things well. They have a powerful running game with a freshman halfback (Jack Pride) who weighs 216 pounds and a fullback (Al Lingenfelter) who goes 208. They also have a little (5-foot-9, 145-pound) flanker named Dan Robertson who is dangerous as a pass receiver and also as a running back on reverse plays.

"To give ylu an idea of their size," the coach continued, "their defensive front four average 6-4 and 235 pounds."

But the boxer isn't afraid of the puncher. "We figure our speed can compensate for their size," said Read. "Our game plan is to try to run around those guys and throw over them. But we'll hit them inside, too, on occasions. We've run against big teams before."

Marin has an explosive attack and the Tars have played some wild games. They've averaged 34 points a game against the opposition's average of 19.8.

Better Officiating Now

Northern California schools in the past have been notorious for "home town" officiating but Read doesn't see much trouble Saturday night at Redding. "Last year our conference joined a reputable officials' association and we haven't had much trouble since then," Read laughed. "But I remember a few years ago when we found out that the uncle of one of Shasta's coaches refereed our game. We don't have those problems anymore."

After the Shasta game Marin plays College of the Redwoods which has lost three games, and Santa Rosa, a two-time loser. Anything can happen, but it looks like the Redding game winner will have clear sailing to the championship.

I don't know about you, but I'm pulling for the boxer. This is one game where it doesn't necessarily Hasta Be Shasta.

Cerrudo To Make Pro Debut

Ron Cerrudo, newly-turned pro from San Rafael, will make his professional golfing debut in the $100,000 Hawaii Open tomorrow through Sunday in Honolulu.

Cerrudo, who qualified for the PGA tour after finishing among the leaders in the PGA school qualifying tourney last month, will add his name to a list that includes Arnold Palmer, Doug Sanders, Gay Brewer and Billy Casper, but not Jack Nicklaus.

Nicklaus, the golf giant who last week won the Sahara tournament, is not entered in the Hawaii tournament.

FANS BUZZING

Practice rounds for the Hawaii tournament began yesterday, and Palmer and Sanders had fans buzzing.

A huge throng followed the pair as they shot a practice round over the 7,000-yard, par 72 Waialae course. Most were Palmer fans but a large contingent wore signs with Sanders' name.

Sanders had about a 67 and Palmer about a 70 as both golfers picked up short putts.

Steve Spray, the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, unknown who was second last week in the Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament, shot a practice round without a soul around.

Seals Host The Rugged N.Y. Rangers

OAKLAND (UPI) — The California Seals try to end a seven-game winless streak tonight when they entertain one of hockey's most legendary teams, the New York Rangers in the Oakland arena, 8 o'clock.

California won two and tied one at home before heading out on a disastrous road jaunt that saw them drop five and tie another one.

The Rangers are 5-1-3 in the tough Eastern Division and figure to have too much for the Seals.

PROMOTIONS

To inject scoring punch into his lethargic offense, California mentor Bert Olmstead has promoted right wing Alain Caron from Buffalo and center Mike Laughton from Vancouver.

Caron has had nine goals already this year, but has a reputation of being a minor league scoring whiz who loses his scoring touch in the big time. Laughton, playing only his second year of pro hockey, scored four in seven games for the Canucks.

As usual in this expansion scene, there will be plenty of familiar faces. Orland Kurtenbach scored the goal that gave the San Francisco Seals of the Western Hockey League the Patrick Cup six years ago. Now he is a Ranger.

Mason Starts To 'Reblossom'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Almost everyone agreed it was only a matter of time before running back Tommy Mason, who starred for six years with the Minnesota Vikings, would reblossom as an outstanding player with the Los Angeles Rams.

Well, 28-year-old Tommy from Tulane has done it.

He did it last Sunday in Chicago against the Bears in a game that was vital to Los Angeles. After three victories, the Rams had lost one and tied two.

IN KEZAR

Tommy and the rest of the Rams' team come to Kezar Stadium Sunday for a game against the 49ers.

Mason had seen little action, for two reasons. He was held out of most of the pre season games because George Allen, knowing Mason's talents, didn't want to risk injury to either of Mason's knees.

And once the knees seemed to be sound, Tommy still didn't play much because young Lester Josephson had been having a sensational career. Josie still is.

Mason, a true pro, realized why Coach George Allen wasn't playing him. He came to the Rams in a trade with the Vikings last off-season.

WANTED ACTION

The story is, however, that Tommy went to Allen and begged for action—if not carrying the ball, as a special unit man on punts and kickoff returns, on defense, anything he could do to help the team.

Allen indicated last week that Mason would team with Eddie Meador on kick returns.

The way things turned out, Tommy shared time with Josephson against the Bears. And all he did was play a big part in three of the four Rams' touchdowns in their 28-17 "must" win.

In the third quarter, Los Angeles ahead 14-10, quarterback Roman Gabriel handed off to Mason, who passed to Bernie Casey on a 51-yard touchdown play.

SETS UP TD

Earlier, Tommy gained 18 on a Gabriel pass and ran for 9 to set up a touchdown, and later he fielded an over-the-shoulder throw with a Bear on his neck for 14 to the Chicago 2. It led to another touchdown.

"The knee feels good, no problem with them," said Mason, who underwent surgery on both knees last winter. "I'm still not in the groove, but I'm getting there."

Tommy's coach at Minnesota, Norm Van Brocklin, has said that "Mason is a player who will give you more than 100 per cent on every play."

When was the last time Mason threw a touchdown pass?

Tommy grinned, and replied, "It was in 1964, I think, for Minnesota—against the Rams."

Giants Still Sporting Best Offense In NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's offense still is the best in the National Football League, Green Bay's defense is the best and the Sunday scoreboard proves the point.

The Giants, who rolled to a 38-34 victory over Cleveland's powerful Browns, have been averaging 392 yards per game.

Green Bay, which has limited the opposition to an average of 212 yards a day, was stung by the St. Louis attack of Jim Hart but still managed to beat the Cardinals 31-23 Monday night with their defense.

The Los Angeles Rams are tops in running with 159 yards a game.

Batimore's passing attack rolls up 279 yards a game although it has produced only 12 touchdowns passing as compared to the Giants' total of 18.

That stingy Packer defense is first in total yardage allowed and also in pass defense. However, the Cards shot a few holes in that pass umbrella and gained 289 yards in one game through the air.

St. Louis has had its passer caught only five times, (three by Green Bay Monday night) and San Francisco has smeared the enemy passer 22 times although it had trouble protecting its own John Brodie against Detroit last Sunday.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors aren't packing 'em in this season at the Oakland Arena where they play some of their best ball.

A total of 2,263 persons turned out last night to watch the Warriors win their fifth game in a row by downing the New York Knicks 108-103. It was the fifth victory without a loss for the Warriors this season at the Arena and their 10th in 11 starts since last fall at the Oakland sports complex.

Last season, an average crowd of about 9,000 turned out at the Arena to watch the Warriors and super star Rick Barry who later jumped to the American Basketball Association and is sitting out this season.

San Francisco remained in third place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association with a 7-4 record. The Warriors meet the Pistons tonight for the first time this season at Detroit.

BIG NATE

Elongated center Nate Thurmond scored 26 points and dominated the backboards with 27 rebounds against New York (1-6). Jim King, the leading scorer in the NBA, chipped in with 23.

POP WARNER CHAMPS

Hoping For Trip To Hawaii

The Terra Linda Junior Trojans, champions of the Marin County Pop Warner League, may show theri wares in Hawaii in December.

If they can afford it.

Parents, booster groups and coaches are now in the process of trying to raise money for a bowl game either Dec. 2 or 3. Expenses may run up to $9,000.

The Junior Trojans will still be busy between now and the proposed Hawaii trip.

They'll eb participating in the annual Marin County North-South All-Star game at Terra Linda Nov. 12 and will meet the champion of the Peninsula League at College of Marin Nov. 25. That night will also see the runner-up of both leagues clash.

The Junior Trojans breezed through the Pop Warner season in undefeated style with and 8-0 record. Runner-up in the league were the San Rafael Junior Bulldogs with a 7-1 record. Novato, Drake and Redwood tied for third and the Tamalpais Junior Indians finished last.

No Flood Relief For College Park

College Park residents in Larkspur failed to get enough votes from the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday for a $3,500 road project, which residents say will give them relief from flooding.

County Director of Public Works Donald R. Frost insisted that the project, which calls for raising the road grade several inches at Woodland and Magnolia Avenues ,would not be effective.

After listening to pleas from Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst and from several residents, supervisors voted 3 to 2 for the outlay. But it failed because four votes are needed for the appropriation.

Supervisor John F. McInnis, who voted against the project, pointed out that other areas of the county have flooding problems. "It is difficult to justify the use of county money for this problem which will be alleviated one year from now," said McInnis. The Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project, now underway, will relieve flooding in College Park.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss agreed with McInnis. "We have been taxed in our (Novato) area to handle such problems," said Gnoss. "I'd be severely criticized if I voted for this."

Supervisors Thomas T. Storer, Ernest N. Kettenhofen and Peter H. Behr voted for the appropriation, contending that the flooding in College Park is far more serious than in other areas of the county, and the outlay would not set a precedent.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

APPOINTMENT — Named Beverly V. Wheeler and Douglas DeLaFontaine to the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board, and Stewart Purcell and George H. Ludy to the Inverness Public Utility District board.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Postponed until Nov. 14 the appointment of a successor to William L. Moon of San Rafael, who resigned from the Human Rights Commission.

FLAG DISPLAY — Approved a $45 to $50 outlay as the county's contribution to the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce's project of displaying flags in town. The supervisors noted that the county contribution was only for the four flags displayed in front of the county courthouse.

ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY — Postponed until Nov. 14 the appointment of a successor to Miss Florence Scott, who resigned last week from the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

FLOOD DUMP — Contracted with Bartley Pump Inc. of Santa Rosa to install a flood control pump at Vendola Drive and Hawthorne Avenue, Santa Venetia, for $6,295. Bartley offered the lowest of three bids.

HOME FOR ELDERLY — Voted 3-1 to approve an elderly persons home for Dr. D. Gwynn Thomson at 2405 Las Gallinas Avenue, near Miller Creek Road. Supervisor Thomas T. Storer was absent, and Supervisor Peter H. Behr cast the dissenting vote, saying he sees no special circumstances that would justify a variance in this case.

DERBY — Approved the closing of a portion of Donahue Avenue and Guy Circle in Marin City for a coaster derby on Nov. 11, after 3 p.m.

BRIDGE — Authorized a foundation investigation of College Avenue Bridge in preparation for Corte Madera Flood Control work by the Army Engineers. The cost of the study will be about $2,000.

STAFFORD LAKE — Applied for a federal $137,000 open space grant to buy 135 acres adjoining the Stafford Lake property. The rest of the $275,000 purchase price is in the state and county budgets.

CONSULTANT — Hired Frank Moncrief of Mill Valley to evaluate a new program to centralize bookkeeping in the Department of Public Social Services ,his $75-a-day salary to be paid by the state.

REJECTEES — Voted not to participate in the Armed Forces Medical Rejectee Referral Program. It "was not worth the time or effort," Said Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, public health officer.

AGING — Designated the Marin Senior Coordinating Council as the County Committee on Aging.

AMBULANCES — Received without comment a report that the California Highway Patrol felt lights and sirens on ambulances are necessary, contrary to a recent column in the Independent-Journal by Dr. Theodore Van Dellen.

HIRE — Hired Cecile Rocz as a group counselor in the probation department at $562 a month, and Clara V. Delfino as a senior typist clerk in the public health department at $429 a month. Both filled vacancies in existing positions.

SHORELINE HIGHWAY — Set for hearing Nov. 21 alignment of Shoreline Highway from the Golden Gate Bridge to the West Marin Master Plan area.

REZONING —Set for hearing Nov. 21 rezoning in the Black Point-East Novato area.

SHOOTING — Rejected a $50,000 claim by Charles Armstead, 237 Drake Avenue, Marin City, claiming a stray bullet fired by an unidentified sheriff's deputy hit him while he was in his home on July 28.

SURFER — Rejected a $10,000 claim by George Machado of Richmond for injuries suffered July 27 when he surfed into a piling at Bolinas Beach.

Union Voices Warning On Probation Layoffs

A representative of the Probation Workers Union warned the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday that the termination of Family Rehabilitation Center employees can cause "a dangerous precedent" in employee layoffs.

Robert Anderson, field representatice for Probation Workers Union Local 535, spoke for Joseph Nimidoff, a residential worker who asked for another job in the probation department when the supervisors cut back several jobs to phase out FRC.

Anderson argued that several vacancies exist in the probation department for which Nimidoff qualifies. "If the positions are vacant, why can't he be transferred, and if there are reasons for the termination, why can't these reasons be delineated?"

Deputy County Counsel Richard V. Godino replied that the county merit system ordinance does not provide automatic transfer when a position is terminated; such an employee merely gets preference over other candidates "all things being equal." Godino said the department head has the final say on whether candidates are comparable.

Administrator Alan Bruce announced that Chief Probation Officer Walter H. Busher is in the process of recruiting for the vacant positions, and Nimidoff will be considered along with other applicants. If Nimidoff is not hired, Busher has agreed to give the reason, Bruce reported.

Supervisors Peter H. Behr assured Anderson that the supervisors and Busher would not use job changes or job terminations "as a subterfuge to cause persons to lose their positions under the merit systems."

Induction Center Move Defeated

OAKLAND (AP) — The City Council has defeated a resolution calling for moving the Northern California Armed Forces Induction Center, scene of five days of recent antidraft demonstrations, to the Oakland Army Base or the Navy's Treasure Island.

"God forbid we ever put up the white flag," said Councilman Robert Osborne.

Chicago Honors Theater Backer

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. John V. Spachner has been given the City Medallion for Public Service in recognition of her fund-raising efforts that led to the renovation of the old Auditorium Theater.

The presentation took place last night during dedication ceremonies at the theater before a white-tie audience of 4,000 persons who paid $10 to $250 a ticket.

They applauded at length when Mrs. Spachner was introduced.

BOATING

An Improved Ignition System On '68 Models

By STAN DAVIES

The manufacturers of boats and outboard motors have introduced their 1968 models, and readers in some areas are already asking about winter problems . . . sure signs that the 1967 boating season is closing.

There are many unusual features on 1968 motors, but the most significant thing is that three major manufacturers are using a very sophisticated electronic ignition on their bigger engines.

There is no question that this new ignition is one of the most important advances in the piston engine since the self starter. It is available as an option on some high performance cars already, but it's inevitable, now that at least 10 different models of outboards are using the lectronic ignition.

Here are some of the questions I've been asked about it:

Q. This new ignition has no breaker points. How does it work? Is it as good as the people who have bought it say it is?

A. Instead of breaker points, the new ignition has a small copper disk rotating between the poles of a magnet. Slots in the disk produce electric pulses which, through a transistor circuit, trigger the discharge of condenser or capacitor to produce the spark across the points of the sparkplug. This is the Mercury system. In the Johnson and Evinrude system, a rotating magnet is used. In both systems, there is nothing to wear, no points to burn. It's probably better than the enthusiastic supporters believe it is.

Q. What's the proper scientific name for the system?

A. An electronic engineer might call it a "magnetic pulse capacitor discharge system."

Q. Will it start an engine better?

A. Here's a test I ran myself. Six sparkplugs were taken out of an outboard motor with conventional ignition. They were so fouled, the engine would not run. They were put in an engine with the new ignition. It was wetted down with a hose. The battery was so flat that its voltage, normally 12, measured only 4 volts. The motor started on the second crank with the starter cord and ran smoothly.

Q. Why is it so effective?

A. Again, an engineer's explanation. It does it because of a faster rise in the voltage (or electrical pressure) which makes the spark jump the gap. In older systems, the current "leaked" across a fouled plug before the pressure got high enough to make it jump the gap. In the new ignition, the gush of current is so fast, it doesn't have time to go anywhere but across the gap.

Q. Under what names is electronic ignition known?

A. Thunderbolt, Power Pulse or Magnapower. (An automobile system is called Delcotronic.)

Q. Why do outboard makers have 9½ and 9.8 Hp. motors? For 1968, I see a 9.9 Hp. motor. They used to be all 10 Hp. Why?

A. This is to beat the "10-horsepower rule." In some states, boats powered by 10 Hp. or more must be registered and numbered. Motors that get in just under the wire are very popular because they save what most small boaters regard as useless red tape . . . getting a number.

Q. I've heard that storing a boat on its trailer too long is damaging. Is it?

A. If the boat is supported adequately, the trailer is the best place to keep it . . . for any length of time. Support the keel in at least four places and put a block under the outboard motor to take the strain off the transom. The idea is to preserve the shape of the boat. One other thing: Keep the sun off fibreglass boats. Some of the pigments in such boats fade unevenly if one side of a boat is exposed to the sunu longer than the other.

Heavyweight Quarry Has An Ulcer

COMBINED AP & UPI

LOS ANGELES — Hardhitting Bellflower, Calif., heavyweight Jerry Quarry has a duodenal ulcer, it was disclosed yesterday.

"It has greately altered my eating habits," the once-beaten 22-year-old said. "I'm supposed to eat six times a day. I need something on my stomach constantly."

Other tourney first round winners were Thad Spencer, Oscar Bonavena and Jimmy Ellis.

LOS ANGELES—UCLA coach Tommy Prothro called for a closed workout for the second straight day yesterday. The drills were closed to the public, press and anyone else who wanted to get in. Sophomore halfback Greg Jones, injured three weeks ago, was scheduled to be back in the starting lineup for the Bruins Saturday against Oregon State.

Simpson Walking Without Crutches

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As Southern California prepared yesterday for Saturday's game with California, O.J. Simpson walked without the id of crutches but remained on the "will not play" list.

Doctors indicated Simpson's type of injury heals in 10 to 21 days. If it heals by Nov. 18, he'll presumably be running against UCLA.

Colavito Is Early White Sox Signer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox announced today that veteran Rocky Colavito has signed a contract for the 1968 season.

Colavito, 34, was obtained by the Sox from the Cleveland Indians in a trade July 29. Colavito hit three home runs and drove in 29 runs in 59 games with Chicago. His batting average was .221.

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — There will be two good ground attacks clashing Sunday when Los Angeles comes to call on San Francisco in a big National Football League battle.

The Rams have ground out a league leading 1,114 yards in seven games with Les Josephson and Dick Bass sharing heavy duty with 406 and 401 yards respectively.

The 49ers have picked up a healthy 958 yards when Ken Willard, John David Crow, Gary Lewis and Doug Cunningham all contributing to the total.

Lewis and Cunningham were absent with injuries last Sunday when the 49ers were pulverized by Detroit and Jack Christiansen missed their speed. He also was unable to revolve his backs, making the day a long one for Crow and Willard. But Lewis and Cunningham will be back Sunday.

The 49ers are 5-2 and the Rams 5-1-2. And front-running Baltimore 5-0-2 has to battle mighty Green Bay.

NIGHT VISITORS — This devil, pirate and mysterious monster were typical of callers on thousands of Marin County homes last night, out for the traditional Halloween trick or treat. Many collected for charities and only some routine egg, pumpkin and water-filled balloon throwing disturbed the prankish night. (Independent-Journal photo)

Treat Stealing Ends In Teen's Stabbing

COMBINED AP & UPI

At least 11 children met violent death last night while on trick-or-treat forays in celebration of Halloween, including a 14-year-old boy who was fatally stabbed when he tried to steal a bag of candy from another youth.

Nine of the dead were hit by cars and one boy was killed in a fireworks explosion. In addition, 12 children were injured and 41 persons were arrested in Halloween-connected incidents.

Police in Portsmouth, Va., said James Earl Brown Jr. walked up to a boy about his own age who was "trick or treating" in their neighborhood, grabbed his candy bag and ran.

But the youth, wearing a costume and mask, gave chase, overtook Brown and stabbed him, apparently with an ice pick. The youth retrieved his candy and fled as Brown fell, mortally wounded.

Pedestrian deaths were recorded in Texas, Virginia, Kentucky, Minnesota, New York and Pennsylvania.

Halloween parties culminated in shootings in Rochester, N.Y. and Waco, Tex. In one of three such incidents in Rochester, John Filmore, 23, was killed while he was "horsing around" with Johnson Cooper, 20 according to police. Cooper was charged with second degree manslaughter.

In Waco, four male students at Paul Quinn College were shot during a hassle which erupted when outsiders tried to crash a party.

A little girl was shot and wounded by an unknown shiper in the Arlington suburb of Jacksonville, Fla., as she went from house to house in quest of Halloween goodies.

Also more than 75 law enforcement officers rushed to the Negro section in Belle Glade, Fla., after a crowd of about 1,000 youths, many wearing Halloween masks, began tossing eggs and stones.

But the crowd dispersed after some 40 minutes and there were no injuries reported except for a bruised shoulder suffered by the police chief.

At the height of the trouble in New York, more than 100 policemen including Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary, were on hand to deal with the crowd estimated at up to 600 youths.

Police said the trouble apparently began with youths holding a Halloween party in Montefiore cemetery. Before it ended tombstones were overturned, police cars damaged and one officer had suffered minor leg injuries.

The disturbance was quieted by 10 p.m.—two hours after it started.

Marin's Trick-Or-Treaters Pretty Calm In Collections

Although the security was tight and ready — ham radio operators were stationed at strategic points — Marin County's Halloween trick-or-treaters came up with nothing more imaginative than routine egg and pumpkin throwing last night.

The sheriff's department reported that it answered 43 complaints of such incidents between 6:30 and 11:30 p.m. One dog house was moved to a driveway, but the remainder were complaints of eggs and vegetables being thrown at residences.

Members of the Tamalpais Amateur Radio Club, in communication with police headquarters, posted themselves at Novato schools, but spotted no vandalism. In San Rafael, radio operators of the Civil Air Patrol stationed themselves about the city and flashed reports of incidents to police.

Novato police said they loaded a table at the police station with confiscated eggs, tomatoes, pumpkins and a few firecrackers.

Sheriff's deputies in Marin City reported a quiet night. Tiburon and Belvedere reported the quietest Halloween ever. Similar peace and quiet prevailed in other cities.

Curtis Lout, 20, of 10 Apollo Road, Tiburon, was treated at Marin General Hospital last night for a left eye injury received when hit by a BB pellet in a Halloween incident in Mill Valley.

Police were told Lout had been involved in an egg-throwing battle at the Red Carpet Market at 759 East Blithedale Avenue, when an unknown person fired a BB gun at him.

The eyes of the Whirligig Beetle are divided into two parts: one for use in air, one for seeing under water.

Board To Meet

The Mill Valley Library Board will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the library. The agenda is routine, according to Mrs. Dorothy Thomas, librarian.

G.M.'s New Boss Always Loved Cars

DETROIT (AP) — Back in 1914, 5-year-old Ed Cole climbed into a 1908 Buick on his father's farm in Marne, Mich., released the handbrake and sent the car rolling into a tree.

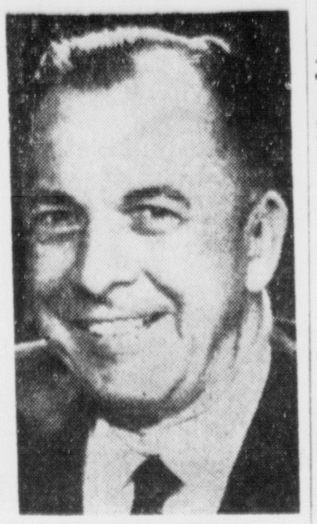
Now, 53 years later, Edward Nicholas Cole is president of the General Motors Corp.

Cole's election climaxed a G.M. career that began in 1929 when he enrolled in the General Motors Institute at Flint, Mich., under sponsorship of the corporation's Cadillac division. The job into which he steps paid James M. Roche, the new chairman, $730,000 in salary and bonuses last year.



EDWARD COLE
At first a smashup

NOT A GRADUATE

Like Roche before him, Cole carries no college diploma into the president's office. Roche's education came via correspondence courses. Cole's ended at General Motors Institute when Cadillac called him out before graduation and assigned him to a special engineering project.

Known as an engineering genius, Cole personally was responsible for the basic design concept of the Chevrolet Corvair, a light-weight, rear-engine car.

CHEERY 'HELLO'

He is genial and articulate and is known about the G.M. building in Detroit as a man who has a cheery "hello" for everyone, including the elevator operators and the cleaning crews that dust up at night.

A vice president since 1956, when he was named general manager of the Chevrolet division, Cole had been an executive vice president since 1965 with jurisdiction over all the general staff activities of the corporation.

Cole spent his boyhood on his father's farm, milking cows and delivering milk before school. While still in his teens, he sold tractors during summer vacations by driving them around the countryside and giving on-the-spot demonstrations.

It was the ambition of his parents that he become a lawyer and he entered Grand Rapids Junior College. But a summer vacation job with the Hayes Body Corp., then an automotive supplier, turned him back irrevocably to his first love — cars.

Retirement Plan Worth Plenty—If It's Converted

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I recently retired from Sears, Roebuck. As a result of their profit-sharing plan I have 2,500 shares of Sears stock. We own our home and have very little other savings. We know Sears is a blue chip and good for growth, but the income is pretty low. What would you advise for a man with a wife and two children? K.W.

A. You are a fortunate man to have spent your life with a firm which has so generously endowed you upon retirement. Sears is a fine stock and represents the world's greatest merchandiser, but the value of your holdings is over $140,000 and the annual return, at current rate, is only $3,000 or 2.1 per cent. You will obviously require more than this amount for your family's living expenses and for this reason I believe you should retain only a moderate amount of Sears for growth — say 100 shares. The balance represents too large a sum for an arm's length suggestion in this column. I advise you to talk with the trust officer of one of your local banks and discuss their costs and procedure for supervising your investments. If this suggestion does not appeal to you, I would set aside $10,000 in savings and invest through a broker in good quality stocks only, yieilding 4½ to 5½ per cent. A list might include such issues as International Harvester; Stewart-Warner; Peoples Gas; Duquesne Light; Washington Water Power; Abex Corp.

Q. I hold Treasury bonds due 1968 and 1972. Should I sell these and put the proceeds into Series H bonds to produce more income? E. R.

A. Treasury bonds have been coming down in price because of tight money conditions and in many instances have reached record lows. Because of their relatively short maturity, your issues have held up better but still yield substantially more than savings bonds. I advise you to defer your proposed exchange until your bonds mature or recover.

Francis Cabot Lowell perfected the power loom in 1822, starting the cotton manufacturing industry at Lowell, Mass.

Stocks Drop Sharply; Trade Active

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market closed with a deep loss today. Trading was active.

The decline was not triggered by any special news but was a logical sequence to the breaking of technical supports in yesterday's decline, analysts said.

The market, one analyst said, was "paying the price" for its upsurge of a few weeks ago when the list reached its peak of the year.

IBM sank more than 10 points, General Electric 4, Zenith 2.

General Motors, late in opening showed a loss of about 3 points. The company was reported threatened by strikes at every one of its plants that schedules overtime.

Prices were generally lower on the American Stock Exchange.

Airline To Open Superjet School

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — American Airlines today signalled the approach of jumbo jets and supersonic transports by announcing plans for a special school to train its pilots to fly them.

It will be a multimillion dollar Academy of Advanced Flight.

Plans call for construction of a complex, college-campus style on an 80-acre site next to a new airport between Dallas and Ft. Worth.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Northgate Industrial Park Gains New Plastics Maker

Another "light and clean" industry will get into operation in Marin about the middle of November at Northgate Industrial Park.

Opening is Shaw-Clayton Plastics, Inc., a plastic molding injection plant headed by Howard Shaw of Ross and located at 123 Carlos Drive. Here Shaw has acquired 5,000 square feet in a new building through Dohemann and Co. and will occupy about half of the entire structure. Machinery and equipment for the tool and die department are now in place and delivery of the first molding machine is expected this week.

While custom molding will be done for other firms, Shaw-Clayton will introduce some proprietary products of its own, with marketing scheduled for 1968, probably through manufacturers representatives.

Shaw was previously with Schlage Lock Co., San Francisco for 15 years. During the past six years he has been product planning manager in manufacturing and in charge of purchasing control and material handling. Recently he has been trying to find a small manufacturing company to acquire. Not locating what he wanted, he decided to start one.

His engineering manager is Will H. Carter of Petaluma, with over 30 years experience in tool and die work and recent experience specializing in moldings. By Dec. 1 the plant should have a staff of six. By spring it is anticipated there will be twice as many or more.

CO-OP MARIN in Corte Madera is celebrating its grand opening Nov. 15 with the completion of its second building unit.

Going in here will be the Co-op Marin Liquor Store — moved out of the co-operative market in the first unit. Also switching over from unit one to unit two are the Co-op Credit Union and Mutual Service Insurance. In addition, there will be a One Hour Martinizing Cleaners, a coin-operated laundry and the Miz Brown's restaurant.

FERRER PLUMBING CO., now at 140 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, will move to 2,000 square feet in the new building addition of the Woodland Development Co. industrial and commercial cluster at 70 Woodland Avenue, as soon as Juan Ferrer finds a lessee for his present location.

THERE IS A comparatively new business at 178 Northgate Shopping Center holding its grand opening on Friday and Saturday.

This is Pet Arcade, where Camera Cade used to be, and is owned by Mrs. Lucille Boxley from Redding, who is now looking for a place to live in Marin. She still maintains two pet shops in Redding and is obliged to do a certain amount of commuting back and forth.

Everything in the pet line is stocked at Northgate — "from puppies to guppies." And pet grooming service is rendered by Joanne Seivertson, who formerly had La Petite Pet Salon on the San Rafael Miracle Mile. Free goldfish will be given away during the two-day grand opening.

Store hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., with later hours observed on Friday nights. Closed on Sundays.

NEW MANAGER of the San Rafael showroom of Lights of San Rafael is Kenneth Pagel, who recently moved to Mill Valley from San Francisco where he was with the Examiner's promotion department. In addition to supervising the showroom he will also be responsible for advertising and home lighting displays.

ELEANOR NELSON of Sausalito has been appointed media director for Gross, Cappel, Pera and Rockey, San Francisco. She has been with the firm 12 years. Before that she was seven years with J. Walter Thompson, four years with Botsford, Constantine and McCarthy and a year with Post, Keyes and Gardner.

A FRAGRANT BRAID of orange bread filled with honey and almonds brings family and friends back for more. "Honey Almond Braid," glazed with toasted blanched almonds and honey, is as handsome as it is delicious.

Honey Almond Braid Will Delight Family And Friends

The sweet aroma of fresh bread with honey and almonds brings the whole family running.

"Honey Almond Braid" is fragrant and moist. Its filling of ground almonds and honey provides the perfect flavor complement for this orange-flavored yeast bread. The easy glaze and garnish of blanched almond halves makes it a handsome loaf for company fare. Serve it warm at your next coffee party.

Whether served warm or cold, you needn't use it all in one day. The bread has excellent keeping qualities when stored in an airtight container.

HONEY ALMOND BRAID

1 envelope active dry yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup warm milk
½ cup water
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cardamon
¼ cup sugar
⅓ cup shortening
1 egg, slightly beaten
1½ teaspoons grated orange rind
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
Filling
Glaze

Filling

1 cup blanched almonds, ground
¾ cup honey
½ cup melted butter or margarine

Glaze

¼ cup blanched toasted almonds
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

Sprinkle or crumble yeast into warm water; stir until dissolved. Scald milk; pour over salt, cardamon, sugar and shortening in large mixing bowl, stir to dissolve sugar and melt shortening. Add egg and orange rind, mixing well. Stir in 1½ cups flour, then yeast mixture. Add remaining flour, beating well to make a soft dough. Scrape from sides of bowl, cover with damp cloth. Let rise in warm place until doubled, about 1½ hours. Punch down and let rest 10 minutes. Divide dough into three parts.

Roll each into 16 x 5-inch rectangle. Spread ⅓ of filling on each and roll up from long side, like jelly roll, pinching sides and ends to seal. Place on greased pan and braid rolls, tucking ends under firmly. Cover and let rise until light, about 30 minutes. Bake at 400 degrees 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from oven and spread glaze over top. Serve warm or cold.

Filling: Combine all ingredients, mixing well.

Serve Chicken Curry With Lentils

There's no better pastime than to delve into ancient history as far as foods are concerned. That's why you will enjoy even more our party dish. Chicken Curry with Lentils if you read up on curries, identified with India, and lentils, probably the first food cultivated by a man and chosen for ages as a mainstay in Old World diets.

Curries of India vary from area to area, from cook to cook. There they are often served with lentils, a distinction which we can add to out New World curry dishes. Always served with a chutney and a variety of small oddments to sprinkle over servings of a curry meal, this custom makes the dish a conversation-piece that bids fair to become your specialty-of-the house.

CHICKEN CURRY WITH LENTILS

NOTE: cooking the chicken can be done the day before. Letting the chicken "rest" in the broth makes for finer flavor. When ready to make the sauce, heat gently. Lift out the chicken; strain the broth. If there is any doubt about feelings toward curry, have some chicken in the thickened chicken broth.

PART 1

1 chicken for fricassee 5 to 6 pounds or
2 fryer-broiler chickens, 3 pounds each
2 whole carrots
2 celery tops or coarse stalks
1 small onion, whole
1 tablespoon salt

Place disjointed chicken, vegetables, salt, and hot water to cover in Dutch oven or heavy kettle with tight-fitting cover. Simmer until tender. Allow chicken to remain in broth, preferably over-night, refrigerated. Heat just enough to pour off broth. Bone chicken. Keep covered and refrigerated.

PART 2

4 tablespoons chicken fat or butter
2 to 4 tablespoons curry powder (the best)
2 cups chicken broth
1 cup light cream or undiluted evaporated milk
4 egg yolks
salt as needed

Cook onions in fat over low heat until tender but not colored. Sprinkle curry powder over the onions, the amount depending upon the type of curry powder and how much curry flavor is desired. Start with 2 tablespoons. Sir well. Cook a few minutes. Add the broth and simmer 10 minutes. This can be done in a double boiler top over low heat. After simmering, place over hot water in the lower part. This part may be prepared in the morning.

A short time before serving, whip together with a fork the egg yolks and cream. Add about ¼ cup of the heated curry broth. Then stir into the broth in the double boiler. Continue to stir until thickened. Keep covered over hot water.

TO SERVE: pour sauce over the cooked boned chicken which has been heated in a little chicken broth. Ring with hot cooked lentils. Or use a two-compartmented serving piece with lentils in one dish, chicken in the other. As "side boys" — the little accompaniments to sprinkle over the lentils topped with the chicken in curry sauce — have small bowls of chopped peanuts or cashew nuts, sliced green onions tops and all, snippets of crisp cooked bacon perhaps mixed with little cubes of avocado, chopped hard-cooked egg whites with sieved egg yolk, white seedless raisins, coconut, preserved kumquats, sliced preserved ginger, pickled water melon rind — at least four or all. Mango chutney of course and other chutneys if you like. This adds to the fun of the party, layering these on the curry meal.

Serve with hot tea and/or beer and not much else, though a pineapple, orange or lemon sherbet served between small meringue shells, which you can make from the 4 egg whites, makes a happy ending!

TO COOK LENTILS: wash 1 pound (2 and ⅓ cups) lentils. This is easy measuring, since lentils are usually in 1-pound packages. Add 5 cups cold or lukewarm water. Bring to boiling point in heavy kettle with tight cover, like Dutch oven. Reduce heat to simmer. Cook 30 minutes. Makes 6 and ⅔ cups cooked lentils with about 1 cup liquid. Drain before using as an accompaniment to curry.

Two Pies In One

If your family's favorites are different pies, you can make two pies in one. Do this by rolling out two pie crusts. Line the pie tin with one crust. Add prepared fruit only on one side, fold crust back over and crimp. Do the same with the other crust, using another kind of fruit filling.

Cranberries, Apples Are Tasty Dessert

Veal Chops with Tomato Sauce
Poppyseed Noodles Green Beans
Cranberry-Apple Crisp Beverage

CRANBERRY-APPLE CRISP

¼ cup sifted regular flour
1½ cups quick-cooking rolled oats
¼ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted
1½ cups granulated sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup cold water
2 cups fresh cranberries
1 cup chopped pared apple

In a small bowl sift together the flour and salt; thoroughly stir in the oats and brown sugar. Add butter and mix until crumbly; set aside. In a medium saucepan stir together the granulated sugar and cornstarch; kradually stir in water, keeping smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add cranberries; cook 5 minutes. Off heat, stir in apples. Turn into an ungreased 8-inch square baking pan. Sprinkle oatmeal mixture over fruit mixture. Bake in a 350-degree oven about 25 minutes. Serve warm with vanilla ice cream. Makes 8 servings.

CURRY LOVERS WILL like to know that lentils make a perfect partner for any curried dish from chicken to shrimp. Pictured is Chicken in Curry Sauce in a ring of cooked lentils, served with little lotus bowls of chopped cashew nuts, thin-sliced green onions, snippets of crisp bacon, chopped hard-cooked egg white and sieved egg yolk. These are only a few of the several accompaniments to sprinkle over the lentils and the curried dish. There should be a chutney of course. Tea is a good beverage.

JAPANESE

Tangy Iceberg Salad Dressing

Take a cue from one of the Japanese steak houses that have become so popular in New York. Serve salad as that restaurant does and offer your family and guests a special dressing that's full of surprise.

What goes into the salad? Iceberg lettuse, sliced tomatoes and bean sprouts. The dressing has a base of oil and vinegar enlivened with such interesting seasonings as tomato paste and soy sauce. Celery and onion go in, too, though the vegetables aren't recognizable because the dressing is mixed in the electric blender.

One tip: we keep tomato paste (from a 6-ounce can) in a small jar in our freezer so that it is on hand when it's needed in small amount — as it is in this dressing. You may find it convenient to follow suit.

ICEBERG LETTUCE SALAD WITH JAPANESE DRESSING

1 head iceberg lettuce
2 large or 3 small tomatoes, sliced
1 cup drained canned bean sprouts
Japanese Dressing (see recipe)

With a small sharp knife,cut out the core from the lettuce; rinse in cold water and drain. Cover with plastic wrap (or put in a plastic bag) and refrigerate to keep crisp. At serving time, cut the head of lettuce in half lengthwise. Place cut sides down on cutting board and coarsely shred crosswise to make 5 cups. In a salad bowl, arrange the lettuce, tomatoes and bean sprouts. At the table, toss the vegetables together and pass the Japanese Dressing; or spoon some of the dressing over the center of the salad and toss with the vegetables. Store any leftover dressing, covered, in refrigerator. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: You many want to core the lettuce by whacking the head core side down — on a cutting board, then lifting or twisting out the core with your fingers.

JAPANESE DRESSING

¼ cup cider vinegar
3 tablespoons tomato paste
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground ginger
¾ cup sliced celery
⅓ cup coarsely chopped onion

Turn all the ingredients, in the order given, into an electric blender; at medium speed, blend 3 to 5 seconds or until celery is finely grated. Cover tightly and refrigerate until serving time. Makes 1½ cups. Serve with Iceberg Lettuce Salad.

Pan Dressed Fish Wrapped In Bacon For On The Grill

Fish charcoal broiled over open grills is a "natural" for fall meals, says the Interior Department's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

Home economists have developed several outdoor fish cookery recipes, including the following one for pan dressed fish.

PAN DRESSED FISH

2 pounds small pan dressed fish, fresh or frozen
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 pound sliced bacon

Thaw frozen fish. Clean, wash, and dry fish. Brush inside of fish with lemon juice and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Wrap each fish with a slice of bacon. Place fish in well-greased, hinged wire grill. Cook about 5 inches from moderately hot coals for 10 minutes. Turn and cook for 10 to 15 minutes longer or until bacon is crisp and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serves 6.

Further outdoor fish cookery suggestions are included in the Bureau's recipe leaflet Outdoor Fish Cookery. Single copies are available while supplies last from the Branch of Marketing, Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, 1801 N. Moore St., Room 408, Arlington, Va., 22209.

Orange To Apples

The next time you bake an apple pie, section a large sweet orange and add the segments to the prepared apples. Bake as usual. This gives added taste appeal to the family's old-time favorite.

Favorites Of Two Pianists

Concert artists are hard working individuals and most of that labor is physical. At the end of a concert or practice period, they may have worked up a considerable appetite. John Steinway, whose family has been serving the concert piano needs of the world's greatest artists for over a century, lets us in on favorite recipes of two of these renowned pianists.

A popular recipe in the Vladimir Horowitz household is this one for:

RUSSIAN CUTLETS
SERVES 3 TO 6

1 lb. ground top round steak
1 egg
½ tsp. salt, dash of pepper
2 slices white bread, crustless
½ cup milk
¼ cup butter
6 small pieces of ice
Fine dry bread crumbs

Mix meat, egg, salt and pepper. Soak bread in milk, drain, and crush the bread.

Then stir into meat mixture. Form into 6 pear-shaped patties, and in the center of each put a half-inch cube of butter and a small piece of ice. Fold meat over the butter and ice, then roll patties in dry bread crumbs and place in refrigerator for 45 minutes. Heat remaining butter in skillet and brown patties five minutes on each side. Lower heat, cover pan, and leave for 20 minutes until cooked through.

Brilliant young American pianist Gary Graffman has a favorite cheesecake recipe that has been in his family for generations. His wife, who is a superb cook, carries on the family tradition with:

EASTER CHEESECAKE
8 PORTIONS

1½ lbs. farmer cheese
½ lb. butter, softened
6 egg yolks
2 cups and 2 tbsp. confectioners' sugar, sifted
1 new flowerpot
1 tsp. vanilla extract
Grated rind of 2 lemons
4 cups finely chopped glazed fruits (preferably pineapple and cherries)
½ cup slivered blanched almonds

Force cheese through food mill or meat grinder. Stir in softened butter. Beat together egg yolks, confectioners' sugar, vanilla and lemon rind until mixture is light and fluffy. Combine with cheese mixture, glazed fruits and almonds. Line a new flowerpot, (5-inches in diameter, with 3 drainage holes in bottom) with wet cheesecloth. Pack in the cheese mixture. Cover mixture with overlapped ends of cloth. Place on rack on drainboard. Set a heavy weight on cheese mixture for about 1 hour. Excess moisture will drain from bottom. Place on a plate with heavy weight still on top. Refrigerate for at least 12 hours. Unmold. Garnish with cherries and almonds, if desired.

Halibut Fine When Topped With Cheddar

Plentiful California Halibut not only makes fine eating but is a budget boon. When topped with plentiful Cheddar cheese as in our recipe today it gets a big nutrition and flavor plus. Six servings. Main thing with tender white fish is not to overcook it.

2 pounds halibut steaks, fresh or frozen
1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
Salt and pepper
¼ teaspoon basil (optional)
⅓ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
¼ cup melted butter

If fish is frozen, let thaw in refrigerator or at room temperature. Arrange halibut steaks in a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle steaks with vinegar, salt, pepper and basil. Bake in moderate, 375 degree, oven 20 minutes. Remove dish from oven and spread steaks with a mixture of bread crumbs and cheese. Sprinkle with melted butter. Return to oven and continue baking for 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Use As A Salad

Drained chilled bean sprouts may be dressed with an oil-and-vinegar dressing for use as a salad. Arrange the marinated bean sprouts on lettuce and garnish.

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 1, the 305th day of 1967 with 60 to follow.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1864, the post office department introduced the money order system as a safety convenience for sending currency through the mails.

In 1918, the Hapsburg monarchy of Austria-Hungary was dissolved. Budapest became the capital of the Hungarian Republic and Vienna the capital of Austria.

In 1965, 62 persons were killed in Cairo, Egypt, when a bus plunged into the Nile River.

A thought for the day: Pope Pius XII once said — "The American people have a genius for splendor and unselfish action, and into the hands of America God has placed the destinies of afflicted humanity."

TIME AND TIDE

Departments of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Slam Is Sound Contract Only If Declarer Has Even Chance

In the recent Team Selection Tournament in Atlantic City, N.J., two famous experts optimistically bid six hearts on the hand shownt oday. The slam was tempting but unsound since the odds were 3 to 1 against the declarer. A slam is a sound contract only if declarer has at least an even chance to bring it home.

BEST SHOT

New York expert Bill Root, who was eventually picked for the 1968 Olympic Team with his partner, Al Roth, made the slam by taking his best shot. He won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, discarded two diamonds on the top clubs and led a spade from dummy.

EAST LOW

East craftily played low, hoping that South would try a finesse with the nine if he held A-J-9 of spades. Root gulped and put in the jack of spades. The odds were 3 to 1 against finding both the king and queen of spades in the East hand, but this was still Root's best chance.

When the jack of spades held, Root made all 13 tricks by ruffing both low spades in the dummy. East could have saved one trick by splitting his spade honors on the first round of the suit, but the overtrick was unimportant.

MISREAD SITUATION

A another table another famous expert muffed the slam by misjudging an opponent on the first round of spades. When East played low, South thought it unlikely that East would have ducked with both the king and queen. South therefore played a low spade instead oft he jack, hoping that one of the opponents held only K-Q-x of spades or that the defender who won the first spade would fail to return a trump.

A trump came back, of course, and South went down. The odds were about 11 to 1 against this declarer. It was bad enough to be in the frying pan with the odds 3 to 1 against him, but he made it worse by jumping into the fire.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner has opened with one club and you have jumped to two hearts.

He now bids three clubs, and it is up to you again, holding:

♠ A J 6 4
♥ A K Q J 5 2
♦ 8 6 5
♣ None

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts.

This shows a completely independent heart suit and also indicates that slam is very unlikely unless your partner can make the first move. If partner has a minimum opening bid you will be charmed to stop at game.

49er Coach Must Feel Like The King Of Siam

Modern day football coaches occasionally must feel precisely the way the King of Siam did a century ago. They try and try their best to solve problems but wind up banging their heads and exclaiming, like the kind did long ago, "It's a puzzlement."

Jack Christiansen didn't boil the humbling 45-3 lesson taught his 49ers into such terse phraseology. But the 49er coach was brief enough in his summation of the rout: "We didn't block, didn't tackle and didn't win."

Why should the 49ers, after winning three in a row, look like patsies when they had their loyal fans believing this might be a glorious season? As usual, John Brodie took the boos from those Kezar customers who never had great admiration for the 49er quarterback.

BUT BART STARR of the Packers couldn't have done much better than Brodie against the blitz Detroit defenders conducted from start to finish of Sunday's rout. It seemed that Lion linebackers, shooting gaps, constantly were greeting Brodie at the same time he took the ball and dropped back to pass.

Nevertheless, Brodie still was held accountable by his most severe critics and they demanded a quarterback change. It was old stuff to Kezar oldtimers who remember when detractors of Frankie Albert called for Y. A. Tittle and still later, when detractors of Tittle called for Brodie.

IN SUCH situations Albert and Tittle never faulted critical fans. Brodie similarly has kept his own counsel even when Steve Spurrier, a rookie quarterback, replaced him Sunday only to see his first pass intercepted by the enemy.

So the mop-up summation fell in the lap of the 49er coach and Christiansen gave his terse wrapup of the game.

"They blitzed and we didn't pick up the rushers. And when you don't have time to throw to your outside receivers you can't win."

WHAT ABOUT the injuries sustained by half a dozen 49ers in the bruising battle against the New Orleans Saints on the preceding Sunday: Didn't the fact that Charlie Drueger, co-captain of the 49ers, sat out the Detroit game have an effect on the outcome?

"Krueger's knee injury or Doug Cunningham's hip pointer are no excuse," said Christiansen.

"THE LIONS' blitz worked so well they just kept using it. They normally blitz 30 to 40 per cent of the time but they blitzed 40 to 50 per cent against us."

Next Sunday in Kezar, the 49ers are going up anothei rugged defensive outfit in the Los Angeles Rams. Four Sundays ago they upset the Rams in the Los Angeles Coliseum. If they can do it again, they will stay alive in the NFL Coastal Division race.

Two Changes In Marin Grid Leaders

Terra Linda halfback Mark Buckley's 113-yard performance against Tamalpais last Friday night pushed him from third to first place among Marin County Athletic League ground gainers, statistics compiled by the Independent-Journal showed today.

The only other change among MCAL leaders came in pass receiving where Redwood High's Skip Schmidt jumped from fourth to first after catching five passes for 68 yards in last Saturday's game against Drake.

Tam High's Don Mackin retained his lead among league passers with a 47 per cent completion figure and Redwood High's Pete Richter remained in first place in scoring with 31 points.

BIG TROPHY—This is the California brown bear Mrs. Margaret Bennett of San Rafael killed with six arrows in Siskiyou County last Saturday.

ARCHERY TROPHY

Marin Mother Kills Record Brown Bear

An attractive, young San Rafael mother of three children, who took up archery only six months ago, killed a record California brown bear on her first hunting trip last Saturday.

She is Mrs. Margaret Bennett, 33, of 2650 Las Gallinas Avenue, who fired six arrows into the 300-plus-pound bear while hunting approximately 60 miles north of Burney in Siskiyou County. The bear's skull measured 17¼ inches and Mrs. Bennett said that statistic will enter her name in two record books — the California State and Pope and Young national archery record books.

DOG ATTACKED

A widow, Mrs. Bennett was hunting with a professional guide, Ivan Marx, his wife, Peggy, and an assistant. Using a 40-pound bow, Mrs. Bennett first hit the bear from a distance of 35 yards. The second hit was scored from about 50 yards. The wounded bear attacked and severely injured one of the guide's hunting dogs before Mrs. Bennett killed it with four more of her well-aimed 29½-inch arrows.

"I started archery target practice about six months ago," Mrs. Bennett said, "but this was my first hunting trip. I'll take the bear to a taxidermist in Sacramento to have it mounted in full."

Mrs. Bennett's children are Kathleen, 13; Robert, 11, and Matthew, 6. The two boys accompanied her on the trip.

She is assistant to the national sales manager of Bierleys Soft Drink Co. of Oakland.

Prep Of Week Credits Line, Coaches For Grid Success

Donald Edgar Stone is a soft-spoken young man. He lets his right arm and legs do most of the talking for him, which is one of the reasons why the Sir Francis Drake High School Pirates are well on their way to a second straight Marin County Athletic League football championship.

Stone is the star quarterback for the Pirates and has passed and run them to a 3-1 league record this year after similar leadership during a co-championship season in 1966.

RUNS, PASSES

Last Saturday Stone, a 6-foot-2-inch, 198-pound senior, ran for two touchdowns and passed for a third to spark Drake to a 26-20 victory over Redwood and keep the Pirates tied with Terra Linda for the MCAL lead.

When the dust had settled Stone's statistics counted 112 yards rushing on 19 carries for a nifty 6.2 average along with 50 yards passing on 4 completions in 13 attempts.

For that, he has been named the MCAL's "Prep of the Week" by the Independent-Journal, his second such honor after winning it in a game against Novato last year.

"I'd like to mention just a couple of important things," Stone said yesterday after learning of the I-J award: "First of all, the line really did the job for us in that (Redwood) game. And also I think our coaches (Bob Franceschini and Carl Brown) are the greatest. I really respect them."

DON STONE
Drake sparkplug

Stone is only the fifth-ranked passing quarterback in the MCAL, but his speed has zoomed him to fourth place among all rushers and far ahead of other quarterbacks with 209 yards on 42 carries for a 5.0 average.

A three-sport letterman, Stone placed fourth in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes at the MCAL track and field championships last spring and also is a big man in Drake's basketball plans either as a forward or center.

"But football is my favorite sport," he said. "It's rougher and there's a little more glory in it."

Stone rates co-leader Terra Linda as Drake's toughest football foe this season. The Pirtaes eked out a 2-0 victory over the Trojans. "Oh sure, I'd love to play those guys (Terra Linda) again," he added.

Drake plays undefeated Balboa of San Francisco this Saturday night at Kentfield. "This is really an important game to us," Stone explained. "I guess you can say we'll be upholding the prestige of Marin County. If we can beat a team like that then our county as a whole will receive wide-spread recognition. Sure, I think we can beat them."

FUTURE ENGINEER?

Stone plans to attend college next year, possibly as a major in engineering, and has been contacted by the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. "I'd like to play two sports in college, wherever I go, but I guess I'll have to just stick to football," he said.

Stone is the son of Mrs. Robert O. Stone of 22 Crane Drive, San Anselmo. His father, a retired Army colonel, died a few years ago. He has three sisters.

Cal Bears' Mr. Versatile

BERKELEY (AP) — California's 6-foot-7 split end, Wayne Stewart, the Pacific 8 Conference pass receiving leader, has a chance to become the first player in history to make the All-Pacific 8 team as a back and lineman.

A junior from Downey, Calif., Stewart was a first team Pac 8 back last season. He is gunning for a repeat this fall in his new position.

California Coach Ray Willsey says, ' The fact that Wayne has made such a successful switch is a credit to his ability as a competitor. He could have played any of four or five positions and done well."

Stewart was a split end one fall in high school and in last spring's practice. He concedes he has much to learn there.

"I haven't hit my peak," he explains.

Stewart, along with Pacific 8 pass completion leader Barry Bronk, his quarterback, will be heavily relied upon when the Bears meet top-ranked Southern California at Berkeley Saturday.

The sideline pass has become the most effective play for Bronk and Stewart. Originally, Wayne says, the bread and butter play was to be a curl pattern to midfield, "but we faced some pretty good linebackers, who cut that play off."

Some critics contend the prospect of another losing season at California, now 3-4, should be attributed to the quarterbacking. Stewart feels differently: "Barry Bronk is a good quarterback, and so is Randy Humphries. Teams like USC have a lot of talent, especially blocking, and their quarterbacks have a lot more time to throw.

"We make a lot of mistakes and beat ourselves," he explains.

Spectacular Fire At Abandoned Track

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A spectacular fire last night completed destruction of the abandoned Jefferson Downs grandstand and betting area near here.

The horse race track had not been used since it was wrecked by Hurricane Betsy in September 1965.

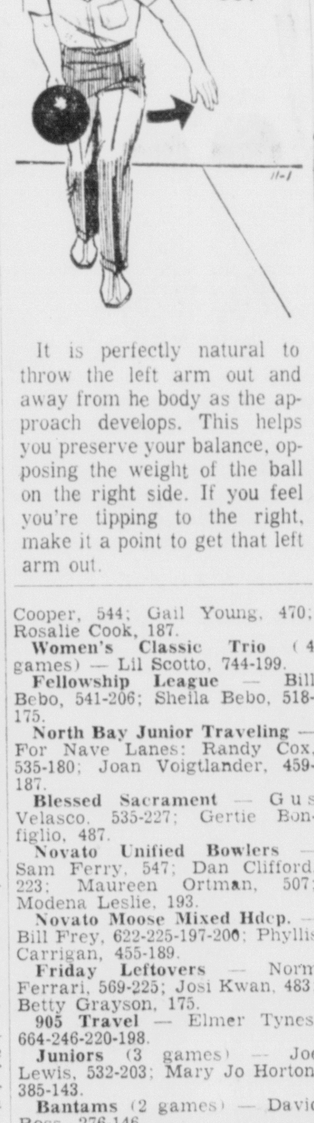
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



It is perfectly natural to throw the left arm out and away from he body as the approach develops. This helps you preserve your balance, opposing the weight of the ball on the right side. If you feel you're tipping to the right, make it a point to get that left arm out.

A Chance For 'Unknowns' To Play In Crosby Pro-Am

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Four little known amateur golfers will get a chance to play in the Bing Crosby Pro-Am Championship at Monterey in January.

General Chairman Larry Crosby, Bing's brother, announced the idea today.

Presidents of the 34 PGA sections in the country will be based to nominate one player, 21 or older, with no more than a 12 handicap. The nominations must be in by Dec. 1.

The 34 names will be dropped in four hats, representing the North, East, West and South, and Bing will draw out the names of the lucky four.

Crosby tournament officials for years have been swamped with applications to play in the event, which attracts virtually every name professional plus celebrities from sports, entertainment and business fields.
